H. B. Oil Maps Lead To Heated Hearing Fight

Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) Skribbin

I'm in a fighting mood today myself. Persuaded, and against my better judgment, to exhaust a day in Los Angeles. Now what in the world can there be left in Los Angeles for me after the American Legion is through with it. The most exuberant conclusion of the convention was that the visiting Legionnaires left about ten hundred thousand dollars in that city. Well, if they are expecting a contribution from my visit they can mark me down as a liability.

About the only reason I go to Los Angeles is to have a visit with Al Irish over at the Billmore, and that isn't because Al owes me anything. He is just a good fellow whom I have known since the days when George Edgar attracted out of town trade to his grocery store by reason of a hobby he had selling imported goods. Many a dollar was left in this city due to the specialty Edgar had of handling what the other fellow didn't.

So it is a personal reason which magnetized me to the city where the angels may have once lived, but left a long time ago. It's nice town, but I've never encountered many wings there. And another thing that keeps me away is for fear some one may ask me to pronounce the name of the place the way it appears in The Times. That's enough to keep anybody away. And then there are other reasons—finances for one. Maybe you can think of others.

I've often wondered if Los Angeles thinks as much of us as before the incomparable city of our own, urban and rural contentment, and quite a sizable assessment. The tie that binds was severed in March of 1889. "Billy" Spurgeon and "Jim" McFadden put over a skillful piece of political maneuvering to get the divorce. Played San Francisco against Los Angeles. It worked.

The way we get along with Los Angeles now is to take what it can't get. They encroached us out of our country fair and consolidated it with the Pomona exhibition, and with the assistance of the state made quite an institution out of it. I understand that Huntington Beach has an ambition to recover the Orange County fair, with which it has been famous by eastern resorts and better confined to oranges and lemons and walnuts and beans and peppers. The "hoss" racin' part of the fair seems to have been pretty well provided for. And with the state already divided into two fairs—where is a single county's chance?

Humsoever, we've been fairly neighborly with Los Angeles county ever since the separation, and they have made it so convenient in the way of transportation and coming away from the Southern California metropolis because it's become a habit. That, and an automobile reason is why "Stormy" Gordon persuaded me to consume a whole day around hotels, and listen to "pep" talks for salesmen, when I'm selling words—not cars.

So, in company with another fellow who has been hanging around newspaper offices so long he isn't good for anything else, the day is being spent in that city made famous by eastern resorts and terrestrial stars. The advantage in that respect is the stars are nearer to you. I sort of like the proximity myself.

Of this I am sure—at the close of an imperfect day I'll not feel like a jitterbug or swing terpsichorean. My movement, I feel certain, along about the time you are reading this column—if you do—will be as slow as a hookworm.

Land Commission Balks at Data's Presentation

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Maps of tideland oil drilling became a heated issue today in the hearing of state personnel board charges that Carl B. Sturzenacker and Arthur H. Alexander plotted to allow private drilling in state-owned tidelands.

Maps showing tideland drilling operations at Huntington Beach had been subpoenaed by Frank Perry, counsel for the personnel board. Webb Shadle, executive officer of the state lands commission, protested against introduction of the maps. He said they were confidential records.

Perry contended that the maps could not be summoned because they showed the surface origins of the wells and their various slantings into the tidelands, crossing other properties.

"We have endeavored to keep these maps confidential because otherwise it probably would result in many suits being filed for technical trespass," said Shadle. "Up to date, no committee has required them to be introduced into evidence. They have been made available for inspection, but were not made public records."

Sturzenacker, chief of the California division of lands, and Alexander, petroleum production inspector, are charged with conspiring with others to file for drilling permits in the Wilmington and Huntington Beach, using their official positions to promote a plan to form a new company to handle the drilling.

MARIJUANA ARREST MADE

Arthur B. Cline, 56, Corona del Mar, was arrested today and charged with possession of marijuana on a complaint issued by District Attorney W. F. Menton.

Cline, Menton said, was named in a complaint on information obtained from a special investigator, who asserted saw the man give a marijuana "reefer" to an 18-year-old schoolgirl Aug. 25.

The girl, Menton said, turned the cigarette over to authorities, who by laboratory examination verified its character.

Menton said the girl told him that she saw a large box of skillfully rolled cigarettes in Cline's automobile.

The suspect, first American in years to be linked with distribution of marijuana in Orange county, was booked in the county jail and held under $2500 bail fixed by Justice Kenneth Morrison who issued a warrant this morning for Cline's arrest.

The suspect was being grilled this afternoon by sheriff's officers, who arrested him as he walked out of the courthouse shortly after noon.

Cline has been a frequent visitor at the courthouse in recent months, and spent most of the morning attending the board of supervisors' meetings. Possession of Indian hemp, with which Cline was charged, is a felony punishable by imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

League Acts To Halt Japs

GENEVA. (AP)—The council of the League of Nations decided today what punitive measures were applicable against Japan.

It was the first time that article 16—the "sanctions" article which was invoked against Italy in the Italo-Ethiopian war—has been declared applicable against a state that was not a member of the league.

After the decision at a closed council session, Dr. V. K. Wellington Koo, the Chinese delegate, declared: "The only question now is to what extent various members of the league will participate in sanctions."

Dr. Koo said China would ask league members to ban shipments of oil and airplanes to Japan.

Some delegates said one of the reasons China's appeal was approved was that in the event of a European war, league powers want to back a similar appeal by Czechoslovakia.

3 TO STUDY RAIL DISPUTE

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt appointed a three-member fact finding commission today to investigate the wage dispute between the railroads and their employees.

Members of the commission are Chief Justice Walter F. Stacy of the North Carolina supreme court, chairman; Professor Harry A. Millis of the University of Chicago, and Dean James M. Landis of the Harvard law school.

Under the railroad labor law, they will report within 30 days. Railroad workers have voted to strike if the carriers insist on a 15 per cent wage reduction proposed for Oct. 1. Because of arbitration machinery contained in the labor law, however, employees could not actually walk out before Dec. 1.

7 Found Guilty Of Mail Fraud

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A federal court jury today convicted seven men of participating in a $100,000 mail fraud scheme. They will be sentenced Oct. 4 by Judge William P. James.

Those convicted are Paul B. Roubay, M. E. Waggoner, E. C. Nelson, P. A. Phelps, Martin Heyman, B. F. Boyd and George J. Padgam. J. Clare Thorpe, also a defendant, was acquitted under order of the court.

Postal inspectors charged the seven convicted had operated under the business trusts, sold trade acceptances based upon the representation they had enough gold and silver bullion to cover the securities involved.

L. A. Supervisors Want More Money

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The Los Angeles county board of supervisors proposed charter amendments today that would reduce the salaries of the district attorney, assessor and sheriff by $2000 and at the same time boost their own wages $2500 a year each.

The proposals, to be submitted to the voters Nov. 8, would cut the salaries of Byron Fitts, Sheriff Eugene Biscanuz and Assessor John R. Quinn or his successor, from $12,000 to $10,000. The supervisors would up their own salaries from $5000 to $7500.

Winery Man Files Debtor's Petition

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—John J. Kovacevich, Kern county winery operator and rancher, filed a debtor's petition in federal court today, listing liabilities of $540,977.92, and assets of $532,241.30.

'We Can't Involve Empire In War,' Says Chamberlain

Czechs' Answer Is Flat Rejection

LONDON. (AP)—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak minister to London, today made public his government's not flatly refusing to accept Adolf Hitler's "final" terms for cutting up Czechoslovakia as the price of European peace.

Publication of the note, which was delivered Sunday to British Foreign Minister Viscount Halifax, was considered today in the light of a direct reply to Chancellor Hitler's address last night, when the Fuehrer warned he would act if he did not get what he defined as Sudetenland by Oct. 1.

White-haired David Lloyd George, who has had more experience dealing with Germans both during and after the World war than any other prime minister, called for a clear British-French stand to "resist aggression."

"We can hardly abandon the Czechs who acted upon our counsel without dishonor to ourselves," he wrote in a letter to the South Wales Liberal federation.

"In 1914 we made a mistake in not warning Germany in time that if she invaded Belgium she would have to face the whole might of the British empire."

"Do not let us repeat that tragic blunder."

BRITISH RUSH PREPARATIONS FOR DEFENSE

LONDON. (AP)—Viscount Gort, chief of the imperial general staff, and Marshal Sir Cyril Newall, air chief, conferred with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain today, strengthening the belief that Adolf Hitler was obdurate in his "final" demands on Czechoslovakia.

The conference took place after Sir Horace Wilson, close adviser to the prime minister, flew back from Berlin after two meetings with the German chancellor in a desperate effort to stave off war.

War preparations on numerous fronts—both civil and military—were rushed forward by the authorities.

In a new move, the war office announced a decision immediately to recruit a women's auxiliary territorial organization to perform noncombatant duties.

Labor exchanges reported a shortage of men as organizations tried vainly to get help in preparing air raid defenses.

Boys at exclusive Eton college removed their top hats and coats and dug trenches in college gardens and laid sandbags to protect the ancient buildings in case Hitler's bombers soared over England.

Colonel Assigned To Battle Fleet

MARCH FIELD, Calif. (AP)—Designation of a war department representative on the staff of the commander of aircraft battle force, United States fleet, was revealed here today.

Lieut. Col. Early E. W. Duncan, of the army air corps, for several years public relations officer at March field, the base of the first wing, G. H. Q. air force, was ordered to proceed immediately to San Diego, and report to Vice Admiral Ernest J. King aboard the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

Seagoing Gamblers Asks Injunction

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Challenging jurisdiction of city, county or federal governments, owners of the gambling ship Rex filed a petition in the United States court today, asking that Los Angeles and Santa Monica authorities be restrained from interfering with operations of the Rex.

The petition, naming Los Angeles and Santa Monica officials and county officers, contends the Rex is anchored on the high seas and therefore is outside jurisdiction.

Inventor of Auto Is Seriously Ill

PHILADELPHIA. (AP)—Charles E. Duryea, 77, credited with being the first to build a gasoline automobile, is seriously ill at his home here.

He also was credited with being the first to use air tires on cars. Duryea built cars from 1892 to 1914.

Light Quake Felt Along North Coast

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—The coast and geodetic survey reported three earthquakes occurred at King City, about 100 miles south of here, early today.

Chancellor Adolf Hitler is shown as he told the world in a speech at Berlin that if Czechoslovakia doesn't give Germany the Sudetenland by Oct. 1 he will act. "The Sudetenland is the last territorial demand I have to make in Europe," he said, "but it is a demand from which I will never recede." (Associated Press Radiophoto).

A consulate communique said war between Germany and Czechoslovakia was possible and that travel from Poland to western countries might become very difficult.

CABINET MEETS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—President Roosevelt studied today, preliminary to this afternoon's cabinet session, Adolf Hitler's reply to his recent note urging peace on European nations.

But Domination Of World Fought

LONDON. (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain declared tonight that "we can not undertake to involve the whole of the British Empire in war however much we may sympathize with a small nation."

But at another point in his broadcast to the empire and the world the prime minister said:

"If I were convinced that any nation had made up its mind to dominate the world by force I would not hesitate to resist it."

Chamberlain spoke only about six minutes, beginning at 8 p. m. (11 a. m., P.S.T.). His address, the most momentous British broadcast since the abdication crisis of 1936, was delivered from the cabinet room of famed Ten Downing street.

After he had finished, his speech was broadcast in German.

NEW HOPE FOR PEACE FELT IN NAZI CAPITAL

BERLIN. (AP)—Another visit by Sir Horace Wilson to Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler today raised new hope of a war-less solution of Germany's demands on Czechoslovakia.

The meeting, the second between Hitler and British Prime Minister Chamberlain's emissary in two days, fulfilled the hope expressed by President Roosevelt that negotiations not be broken off.

It was believed Sir Horace had something concrete and constructive to talk about in the half hour he spent with the Fuehrer.

That was Chamberlain's conciliatory statement on Hitler's speech of yesterday and, particularly, his offer that Britain would guarantee that Czechoslovakia carry out her part of the Sudetenland agreement provided Germany refrain from force.

Sir Horace took off by airplane for London from Tempelhof airport after seeing Hitler.

The British emissary was accompanied to the chancellery by Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador to Germany, and I. A. Kirkpatrick, an embassy secretary.

He was reported to have pleaded eloquently that where such a far-reaching agreement in principle has already been reached over the Sudetenland, the world should not be plunged into war merely because of differences over putting it into effect.

Emphasizing that they could not speak for Hitler, some Wilhelmstrasse commentators intimated that they thought Chamberlain's offer pointed a way out of the impasse.

They felt that if both Hitler and President Edvard Benes of Czechoslovakia accepted this British guarantee there would be no necessity for Germany to seize the Sudetenland next Saturday by force of arms.

Widow Who Posted Reward Arrested

AUBURN, Me. (AP)—Mrs. Viola Penney, a buxom, dark haired widow offered a reward for the arrest of the slayer of her 52-year-old husband, John, when he was found fatally bloodied in his filling station May 19. Today she found herself accused of the crime.

She was arrested last night on a secret indictment.

TO A QUEEN'S TASTE was London performance of "Amphitruon 38," in which Alfred Lunt, 45, and his London-born wife, Lynn Fontanne, were starred. The Lunts have just returned from abroad. Miss Fontanne said, "We thought that Queen Mary would be shocked but she was grand. She told our manager that she was greatly amused and that she really loved the play."

Hitler Answers President Roosevelt, Blaming Czechs If War Comes

NAZI PATIENCE IN SUDETEN ROW DEFENDED

BERLIN. (AP)—Reichsfuehrer Hitler masterfully marshalled Germany's whole case today in an unusually long communication replying to President Roosevelt's appeal for European peace.

He ended with these words: "It is now solely in the hands of the Czechoslovak government and not in the hands of the German government to decide whether it desires peace or war."

Hitler appealed to the President's understanding. "I have the conviction," he wrote, "that if you visualize the entire development of the Sudeten German problem from its beginnings until the present day, you will realize that the German government certainly was not wanting in patience or a sincere will to peaceful understanding."

QUOTES WILSON
He told the president "I completely and in every way share your views concerning the immeasurable consequences of a European war."

Reviewing the history of the Sudeten Germans and their relation to the Czechoslovak state, Hitler reminded Roosevelt that Woodrow Wilson had proclaimed the principle of self-determination for nations in the famous Wilson "14 points."

Other nations involved in the World War, Hitler said, have accepted the principle as binding on them.

But Germany's faith in accepting this principle was "shamefully betrayed," Hitler observed. He charged the victor nations "created a political regime in Europe that reduced the vanquished nations to pariahs stripped of all rights."

PRINCIPLE VIOLATED
The creation of the Czechoslovak state, the fuhrer contended, was the clearest proof of how the victor nations violated the principle of self-determination.

He declared the Sudeten Germans, particularly, were adversely affected.

The Czechoslovak government, he declared, not only failed to accord the Sudeten Germans their guaranteed rights but also proceeded to "Czechify" Sudetenland. The fuhrer's reply follows, in part:

"Be assured that I thoroughly appreciate the high-minded intentions underlying your argument and that I completely and in every way share your views concerning the immeasurable consequences of a European war. For that very reason, I can and must decline every responsibility of the German people and its leadership if, contrary to all my efforts to date, further developments could actually lead to an outbreak of hostilities."

GOES BACK TO ORIGIN
"In order to form correct judgment concerning the Sudeten problem now under discussion, it is indispensable to direct thoughts to events in which the last analysis the origin of these problems and their dangers are rooted."

"The German people in the year 1918 put down their arms in the faith that the conclusion of peace with the opponents at that time would bring a realization of the principles and ideals which were solemnly proclaimed by President Wilson and just as solemnly accepted by all the powers at war as binding upon them."

"Never in history has the faith of the people been more disgracefully betrayed than what happened then and the conditions of peace forced upon the vanquished nations in the suburbs of Paris (Versailles) has fulfilled none of the promises given."

"On the contrary they created a political regime in Europe that reduced the vanquished nations to pariahs, stripped of all rights, and that was recognized from the beginning by all judicious persons as untenable."

ALWAYS GERMAN
"One of the points which most clearly revealed the character of the dictators of 1919 was the founding of the Czechoslovak state and the fixing of its boundaries without in any way taking into account history and nationality."

"Sudetenland, too, was included in it, although this region has always been German and although its inhabitants unanimously declared their desire for Anschluss (union) with the German Reich after the destruction of the Hapsburg monarchy."

"Thus the right of self-determination that was proclaimed by President Wilson as the most important foundation for national life was simply denied the Sudeten Germans."

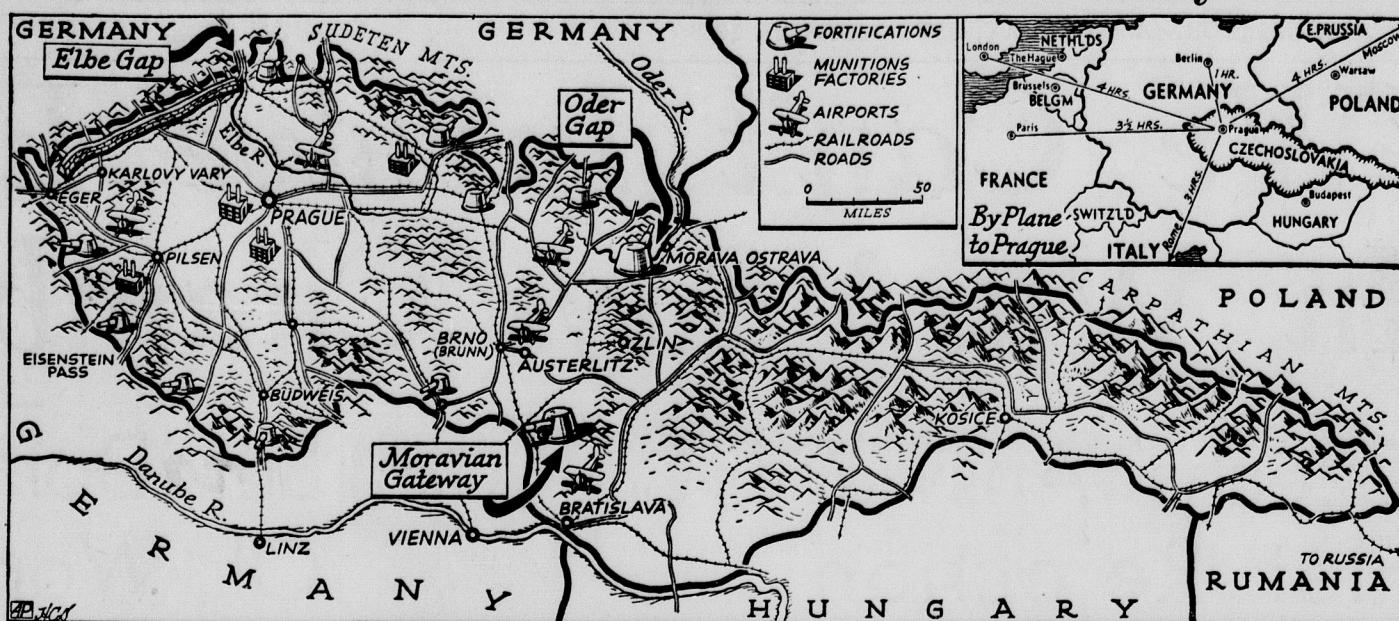

"But that was not enough. In the treaties of 1919 certain obligations, which according to their wording were very far-reaching, were imposed upon the Czechoslovak state as regards the German racial element."

"From the very beginning obligations were not kept. The League of Nations failed completely to carry out the task assigned to it, namely, to guarantee the fulfillment of these obligations."

"Since then Sudetenland has been engaged in heaviest combat for the preservation of its Germanity."

ANNOUNCEMENT
Native Daughters Thimble club will meet at 10 a. m. Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Rose Ford, 209 East Ninth street, for an all-day session. A covered-dish luncheon will be served at noon.

Czechs Count on Nature as Their No. 1 Ally

By the AP Feature Service

If war comes, don't waste too much time pitying little Czechoslovakia. Weak as she may be (15,000,000 people) compared with Germany (75,000,000), she has nature on her side as well as carefully-laid war plans and smart, tough soldiers.

Nature has rimmed the country with formidable mountains and forests. The Czechs have improved on nature by fortifying the passes. Especially strong fortifications guard the Moravian Gateway and the Oder Gap. By using this natural path of conquest, Napoleon beat the allies at the famous battle of Austerlitz in 1805; and the Prussians in 1866 crushed Austria. Hostile armies forcing these passes now might catch the Czechs as in a pincer.

A radiating system of railroads and highways would hurry Czech armies to threatened borders. They would have the "inner line"—an advantage in warfare. Finally, while mountains obstruct the borders, the Czechs have a fine natural region for military airfields on the Bohemian plains. To make the most of all these advantages, Czechoslovakia's army of a million or more, including reserves, has been in rigorous training. Important disadvantages: Principal Czech industrial regions are in the west near German border; war would cut off Czechoslovakia from the sea.

CHAMBERLAIN BROADCASTS CRISIS STAND

out of any doubts that Herr Hitler feels about the intentions of the Czech government to carry out their promises and hand over the territory, I have offered the part of the British government to guarantee their words, and I am sure the value of our promise will not be underrated anywhere."

STILL HAS HOPE
"I shall not give up the hope of peaceful solution or abandon my efforts for peace as long as any chance for peace remains."

"I would not hesitate to pay even a third visit to Germany if I thought it would do any good."

At one point, the prime minister said: "However much we may sympathize with a small nation confronted with a big, a powerful neighbor, we cannot in all the circumstances undertake to involve the whole British empire in war simply on her account."

IF DOMINATION IS AIM
"If we have to fight it must be on larger issues than that. I am, myself, a man of peace to the depths of my soul."

"Foreign conflict between nations is a nightmare to me. But if I were convinced that any nation had made up its mind to dominate the world by fear of its force, I should feel that it must be resisted."

"Under such a domination the people who believe in liberty would not feel life worth living."

Chamberlain told his countrymen: "Meanwhile, there are certain things we can and should do at home."

"Volunteers are still wanted for air raid precautions, for fire brigade and police reserves and for the territorial (reserve) units."

"DON'T BE ALARMED"
"I know that all of you, men and women alike, are ready to play your part in the defense of the country and I ask you to offer your services, if you have not already done so, to the local authorities who will tell you if you are wanted and in what capacities."

"Don't be alarmed if you hear of men being called up to man anti-aircraft defenses or ships."

"These are only precautionary measures such as a government must take in times like these, but they do not necessarily mean that we have determined on war or that war is imminent."

"... for the present I ask you to wait as calmly as you can the events of the next few days."

"As long as war has not begun, there is always hope that it may be prevented, and you know that I am going to work for peace until the last moment."

"Good night."

U. S. WARSHIPS EUROPE BOUND
WASHINGTON. (AP)—Two American warships sped toward Europe today for possible service in returning refugees or other duty in the event of war.

The navy said the cruiser Savannah which sailed Saturday from Philadelphia and the destroyer Somers which left Norfolk the same day would proceed to British ports.

War in Europe Threats Film Industry; Half of Industry Income Is From Exports

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—The financial fate of America's billion-dollar motion picture industry, trade experts fear, lies hidden in the war clouds over Europe.

Movies, of all United States exports, are among the most vulnerable if a foreign explosion occurs.

One studio trade authority estimated today that the international market is now relied on for 50 per cent of a picture's earnings. And that this market might be slashed in half by the outbreak of hostilities.

"We can hardly guess," he said, "what would be the disastrous effects of a widespread war."

He pointed out that the infant film industry of 1914-1918 had so many opportunities for expansion that it was hardly crippled by those war years. Now it is grown

CZECHS REPLY TO GERMANS OVER RADIO

PRAGUE. (AP)—The Czechoslovak government radio today broadcast indignantly that Reichsfuehrer Hitler's demands showed a "brutal desire to crush Czechoslovakia as a free state."

(The broadcast was made at about the same time as the Czechoslovak legation in London disclosed officially that Prague refused to submit to Germany's demands for cession of Sudetenland, as stated in Hitler's memorandum of Sept. 23.)

"The form given by Hitler to his memorandum," the government station announced, "is sufficient to show that it is not enough to make an agreement and maintain peace."

"One feels in Hitler's memorandum a brutal desire to crush Czechoslovakia as a free state."

"The memorandum demands annexation to Germany of territory counting 3,736,000 inhabitants of whom 2,823,000 speak German and 816,000 Czech."

"On the other hand, in the territory where Hitler demands a plebiscite there are 1,116,000 Czechs and only 144,000 inhabitants who speak the German language."

"It results from this that Germany would incorporate 816,000 Czechs into Germany and there would remain only 102,000 Germans in Czechoslovakia."

"The Hitler memorandum is flatly directed against the economic existence of Czechoslovakia. As a result, Czechoslovakia would be deprived of a great part of her forests and her highways and railroads broken in two."

"On the other hand, Czechoslovakia would lose depots on the Elbe river and water highways to Bratislava (border town at the junction of the German, Hungarian and Czechoslovak frontiers on the Danube)."

"Czechoslovakia would be so weakened in a military way that the greatest part of her territory, notably Bohemia and Moravia, would be at the mercy of Germany."

Popular resentment of Hitler's threat to act by next Saturday unless he received the Sudetenland mounted while Czechoslovakia marked time waiting the outcome of renewed British-French efforts to solve the issue peacefully.

Circles close to the government expressed hope that the "friendly ultimatum" of London and Paris to Berlin would draw some of the fire out of Hitler's denunciation of Czechoslovakia—the state, its president and its people.

The Czechoslovak press described Hitler's attack on President Benes as without precedent in history.

ALL HITLER'S DEMANDS ARE REJECTED

the population is to be reduced to panic flight on the part of those who will not accept the German Nazi regime.

WON'T BE SLAVES
"They have to leave their homes without even the right to take their personal belongings or even, in the case of peasants, their cows."

"The nation of Saint Wenceslas, John Hus and Thomas Masaryk will not be a nation of slaves," the note concluded.

"We rely upon the two great Western democracies, whose wishes we have followed much against our own judgment, to stand by us in our hour of trial."

The note was signed by Jan Masaryk, son of Czechoslovakia's founder and first president, Thomas Masaryk.

DEEP SUBWAYS PREPARED FOR AIR ATTACKS

LONDON. (AP)—London, nerve center of the British empire, today prepared for the possible arrival of enemy airplanes by designating the city's two deepest subway stations for immediate transformation into air raid shelters.

The two stations, at Charing Cross, almost exactly in the center of London, were ordered closed at 8 p. m. tonight by the London transport board for "urgent structural works."

The nature of the work was not officially disclosed but it was stated the closing order would remain in effect "until further notice."

Authoritative quarters indicated vast underground shelters against air bombers would be built, part of the greatest defense preparations in British history.

Altogether nine subway stations will be closed, but apparently the "alterations" will be made only at the two stations coming into Charing Cross.

Arrangements have been made to route traffic around the closed stations and make connections there with surface transport.

Some of London's subway tunnels are as deep as an ordinary 17-story building is high. Passengers reach trains only by elevator at the deepest stations but all have emergency staircases.

Many stations, however, are near the surface and would be useless as shelters against air raid attacks.

The purpose of closing the Charing Cross stations apparently was to accommodate the huge midtown sidewalk crowds. Otherwise they would be helpless against bombs and fragments from anti-aircraft fire.

During the World War hundreds of thousands of persons sought refuge in London's vast subway system.

QUITS STATE POST

Queen Asks Brave Hearts At Launching

GLASGOW. (AP)—Queen Elizabeth, with a message from King George calling on the people to "keep cool heads and brave hearts," today launched Britain's new 85,000 ton liner bearing her name.

Nearly 300,000 persons watched the giant vessel, companion ship of the Queen Mary, glide down the slipways into the Clyde.

"I have a message from the king," Queen Elizabeth told the huge crowd. "He bids the people of this country to be of good cheer in spite of the dark clouds hanging over them and indeed the whole world."

"He knows well that, as ever before in critical times, they will keep cool heads and brave hearts."

"He knows, too, they will place their entire confidence in their leaders who are striving their utmost to find a just and peaceful solution of the grave problem which confronts them."

The new liner will register 3765 tons more than the 81,235 ton Queen Mary. The Queen Elizabeth is 1030 feet in length, the longest liner ever built. The Queen Mary is 1020 feet long and the Normandie 981 feet long.

The new ship will accommodate 2400 passengers to the Queen Mary's 2000 and has 14 decks while her "companion" boasts only 12.

STAY HOME, U. S. ADVISES
WASHINGTON. (AP)—The state department "strongly advised" Americans today to forego travel to Europe.

The department warning was based upon reports reaching here from nearly all sections of Europe that travel there is becoming increasingly difficult.

Delays are being experienced by American citizens, the department said, in obtaining immediate passage home.

The department made an exception to its strong advice only in "cases of absolute necessity."

State department officials said the department's advice applied to travel to Europe generally and was not limited to travel to specific countries likely to be engaged in war.

Officials estimated there are about 88,000 Americans resident in Europe who may find themselves in war zones.

POLITICS HITS 'FOOLS RUSH IN' PROBE, CHARGE

Charges that investigation of the "Fools Rush In" pamphlet case is being hampered by political propaganda, and that the special grand jury itself is the victim of a "studied attempt to misrepresent the facts," were hurled by Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton in a radio address on KYOE last night.

In the first of a series of Monday night radio talks, Menton said his office has continued a vigorous investigation of the libelous pamphlet, and denied flatly that there was sufficient evidence at the present time to prosecute.

"The idea that a prosecution could proceed at the present time, either by indictment or information," he said, "is entirely erroneous, and whether innocently or designedly instilled in the public mind, it obviously has a definite purpose."

"That purpose is best exemplified in the propaganda spread upon the pages of a local newspaper. The statements made in that paper as to the attitude of my office toward the case are utterly false, and the editor of that paper either knows, or should know, that they are false. The statement that I am attempting to shield or protect any person or persons is obviously for political purposes."

"This studied attempt to misrepresent the facts in the case has gone even as far as the grand jury. . . ."

"All that I have in my possession has been turned over to the grand jury with the request that a time be fixed for hearing, in order that I may subpoena witnesses to appear before that body. The names of all of those witnesses have been given to the grand jury, but up to this time no request has been made for subpoenas for such witnesses, and no time fixed, so far as I am advised, when they may be heard, if ever."

"What I have said here must not be construed as any reflection upon the grand jury. I think that body is honestly seeking to solve this mystery, but the members of that grand jury are being misled by false propaganda and are being prevented from making a successful investigation. . . ."

AMERICANS IN EUROPE URGED TO COME HOME

LONDON. (AP)—The United States embassy in London today urged Americans all over Europe "to arrange to return to the United States" if they could do so.

A statement issued without comment by an embassy official said:

"Notice to American citizens: 'In view of the complicated situation prevailing in Europe it is considered advisable to recommend that American citizens who have no compelling reason to continue their sojourn here arrange to return to the United States.'"

From the British Isles, France, Italy, Germany, European Russia and intermediate points applications have already been made for return passages to the United States.

Steamship agencies were besieged. In London and Paris, lines reported every available space in all classes had been reserved up to Oct. 15.

United States lines officials said they planned to increase the passenger-carrying capacity of their ships by setting up army cots in the salons if necessary to aid the repatriation of Americans abroad.

Preference was being shown women, children and the aged. The possibility appeared that families might be separated to speed the return of the trailer members.

With all this haste to get back to the United States, however, there were no indications of hysteria. With typical American curiosity thousands of Americans, particularly in London, gave every indication of intending to stay in Europe to see what would happen. These were having a good time in the midst of the preparations for possible war.

From Czechoslovakia came reports that many of the 5000 Americans resident there were seeking a roundabout way to return home, fearing to attempt a return through Germany.

OCEAN YIELDS WOMAN'S BODY

NEW YORK (P)—The body of a woman found in the ocean off Coney island Sunday was identified early today as that of Mrs. Georgia Peiker, wife of Harry C. Peiker, deputy general manager of the Home Owners Loan corporation in Washington.

Mrs. Peiker vanished Saturday night from the French liner Champlain, en route to New York. Contents of two letters she left with her 11-year-old daughter, Nan, also aboard the ship, were not disclosed.

The body was found by the crew of a fishing boat and at first believed she was a hurricane victim. Identification was made by John Howard Haley, a HOLC official here and friend of the Peikers.

478th Body Found In Storm Area

County Calls For Bids On 20 Miles Of Levee Construction

$500,000 JOB TO BE UNDER WAY IN FALL

Bids on reconstruction of 20 miles of Santa Ana river levees, razed by the March 3 flood, were called today by county supervisors.

The project, for which $500,000 has been set up in the county and flood control district budget this year, will get under way soon after contracts are let in October.

Bids were called for materials and for construction work for 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Oct. 11.

Approved before the bids were authorized to be advertised for were plans and specifications, prepared by Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson.

Contractors will install about 20 miles of levees, to be protected by fences and other protection works to prevent a recurrence of last winter's flood damage.

COUNTY OPENS BIDS FOR SALE OF BUILDINGS

Bids on purchase of a truck, sale of assorted buildings and construction of a bridge and dip were opened today by county supervisors.

The truck problem ran into another legal snag, because supervisors contended the bid of George Dunton, local dealer, did not provide for the "immediate delivery" required, although Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker said it could be accepted. The bid finally was accepted, with Dunton required to deliver the vehicle within three weeks. His price, for a four-wheel-drive pickup, was $2117.27.

Bids on purchase of the buildings, in Rincon townsite near Prado dam, were opened and referred to Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson for a report this afternoon. Involved in the sale, required because waters from behind the dam will inundate the area, were houses, a stucco school and assorted outbuildings.

Three bids for construction of a bridge on Rose drive south of Glinda, and a like number of bids for construction on the Cambridge street dip south of Orange were referred to the state for approval. On the bridge job E. G. Perham of Los Angeles was low bidder with a figure of $6348; Mark L. Hart of Orange was second with $6500 and Thorsten and Dahlman of Los Angeles third with $6999. On the dip project Vido Covacevich of Los Angeles apparently was low bidder, although the bids were in items.

SPAN BUILDING FIRM QUALIFIES

Person and Hollingsworth company of Los Angeles, successful bidder on the $134,219.60 job of partially constructing a Santa Fe railroad bridge near Prado dam, today had legally qualified for the job and had assigned the pile-driving end of it to another company.

B. Z. McKinney, special flood control counsel for the board of supervisors, reported today the firm had qualified; and the board allowed the partial assignment of contract to Turner Construction company, which will drive piling in the river bed. The contract calls for construction of piers and abutments, over which Santa Fe will lay tracks for the river bridge, made necessary by building of Prado dam.

VETS REQUEST JOB CHANCE

A plea for open-shop hiring and employment of veterans on PWA jobs, made by the county council of Veterans of Foreign Wars, was presented to county supervisors today.

The council asked that contractors doing work with PWA funds be allowed to use either non-union union labor, as they pleased. In some cases, said the council's resolution, veterans have joined unions to get employment and then found their work lasted only a few days. The veterans' service to their country, the council declared, should entitle them to work without being compelled to join or contribute to unions.

Supervisors discussed previous futile attempts to provide preferential hiring for Orange county laborers on PWA jobs, also asked by the council, and referred the matter to Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton for an opinion.

GEN. WESTOVER CRASH LAID TO AIR CURRENTS

BURBANK, Calif. (P)—In the opinion of inquest witnesses, hot weather and unpredictable air currents figured in the airplane crash last Wednesday which took the lives of Maj. Gen. Oscar Westover, army air corps chief, and Sgt. Samuel Hymes.

Otherwise they were in disagreement. Harry Downs, a pilot who witnessed the accident expressing belief Gen. Westover made too slow a turn in trying to land at the airport here "and became involved in a 'double stall' while attempting to come out of the first one."

The engine probably failed at 400 or 500 feet, testified Lieut. Col. Andrew W. Smith, of the March field medical corps, adding, however, that the fighting plane used by Gen. Westover was one of the best of its type.

The coroner's jury, completing its hearing yesterday, found the two men died accidentally and that Gen. Westover was piloting the ship when it crashed, setting fire to two houses and an automobile.

Results of a separate official inquiry by the army will be submitted in a report to the war department.

With them on the craft were Hal Damon, Boston sportsman, and Robert Friedli of Seattle.

victim in sunny Alabama.

Oh, well, you can't stay home all the time. Why, only as late as last August I was in Laguna Beach. You don't suppose I'm going to stay home all the time.

I remember Los Angeles away back as far as the old Westminster Hotel, when a Santa Ana attended a fraternal convention, and couldn't take a bath because it wasn't Saturday night.

But who wants to get along without Los Angeles? It is a fine city and plenty of it. It has an All Year Club, a chamber of commerce, and a number of other organizations which function just like other organizations of the same kind in smaller towns, only more so. It's got a city hall and civic section and a new mayor, and perhaps a lot of other things which I may find before returning to the best little city in Southern California. I guess you get the idea—I'm in Los Angeles for the day, and it wasn't my idea. So keep the heat on, I'll be back tomorrow, if that's any comfort to you.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

White Elephants

White elephants are M. S. Palmer's stock in trade.

From a tiny print shop in the rear of his home at 410 East Sixth street, Santa Ana, he helps people all over the world trade or sell their "white elephants"—articles for which they have no use.

Palmer is editor and publisher of a bi-monthly journal for swappers, collectors and everyone who has a hobby. It circulates in 43 states and 48 countries of the world, besides Canada.

Started just three years ago, the magazine today claims a circulation of about 1800 among hobby enthusiasts of the world. It carries articles about unusual hobbies of every sort—written and mailed in by hobbyists themselves—and its columns are filled with ads offering "white elephants" for trade or sale.

The journal devotes its interests to all hobby clubs, as well as to hobbyists who are not members of any club. Its special aim is to promote the exchange or swap of all kinds of hobby articles among its readers.

Here are some typical "swap" articles: packets of stamps, postmarks, meters, arrowheads, books, magazines, precalendars, coins, Bureau Ethnology reports, books on Indians and Stone Age, bowling balls, shoes, carrying cases, old paper money, small printing press.

In a recent issue there's even an advertisement offering a four-room house and seven acres of land. Minerals, photographic supplies, novelty articles, Indian relics, sales tax tokens, are some of the typical articles advertised for swap or for sale.

"The White Elephant" has been made the official organ of at least nine hobby clubs, representing a multitude of hobbies. It has no connection with hobby clubs except to enroll members as subscribers, and to print brief news of their activities.

The publication is now the official organ of the 24 Postmark Exchange, Canadian Cover Club, Lanka Stamp League, American Star Cover Club, Lincoln Exchange club, International Amateur Kodak club, "Eighters All," New York Collectors Exchange club, and National Cachet society.

Many subscribers pay in stamps, and international money orders are not uncommon.

Palmer receives hobby magazines in exchange from all parts of the world, including Germany, Czechoslovakia, Manchoukuo, Canada, Paris, and South America. He not only receives numerous hobby magazines, but gets countless letters from hobbyists, many from foreign nations.

He has a fellow hobbyist in Columbus, O., who translates his foreign letters, sends the translation back by mail.

Palmer has received requests for a complete bound volume of his magazine from the New York Public Library and from the periodicals division of the Library of Congress.

Although himself a hobbyist and collector, Palmer writes but little for his own magazine. He depends almost entirely upon articles submitted voluntarily. Most articles are written by about six regular contributors who send manuscripts from Canada, Sweden, Pennsylvania, Minnesota and California. Palmer once had a regular contributor from China.

Palmer usually pays the equivalent of one dollar for an article, sending the author a coupon for that amount to use for advertising or subscriptions.

There are several regular departments—Canadian hobby notes from a regular correspondent, a radio hobby column, a stamp department, club notes, a column on mineral collections. Most hobby news is about stamps because it seems there are more stamp collectors than any others, Palmer says.

Although he never sees his writers, even the regular contributors, Palmer always can depend upon them to supply enough material to fill his 36-page journal.

Press time is about the 15th of every month, but sometimes the magazine is late getting out because of mechanical difficulties. Palmer has the entire job to do himself—correct the manuscripts, write suitable headings, and do the mechanical work.

He sends copy to a print shop in Garden Grove to be set in type, as he has no linotype. He puts the type in forms and runs the small press, binds the magazine, and then sends to the distributor.

Palmer, whose main business is job printing, is himself a hobby enthusiast. He's collected stamps for years, began collecting minerals when but a small boy. Another of his hobbies is collecting photographs.

His magazine keeps him so busy he has time for little other work. His ambition is to build the jour-

County Transportation Problems To Be Discussed Tonight

ASSOCIATED CHAMBER WILL MEET IN H. B.

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Arthur C. Jenkins, engineer for the state railroad commission, is scheduled to be principal speaker tonight at the monthly meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce to be held in the Golden Bear cafe at 8:30 p. m.

Jenkins, who is making an extensive study of transportation problems of Southern California, is expected to comment upon transportation conditions now existing in Orange county.

Secretary Harry M. May of Fullerton said the state railroad commission is "very much puzzled by the handicaps under which our present carriers are trying to function."

Delegates from each chamber throughout the county have been asked to bring a report on the transportation conditions in his community. There will be further discussion of the transportation of mail as well as passenger service, it was announced.

The associated chamber is also expected to take action on the proposed purchase of beach frontage by the state between Huntington Beach and the mouth of the Santa Ana river. Dr. C. G. Huston of Costa Mesa, will give a report on the western safety council held last week in Los Angeles.

Frank Crocker is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

AIRMINDED TO GET BREAK

WASHINGTON.—(By Science Service)—Passengers who complain that they can't see much out of the windows of today's transport planes because the low wing of the plane gets in the way of the scenery may have their innings a few years hence.

A number of transport plane designers throughout the United States are believed to be seriously considering returning to the high-wing or mid-wing monoplane in place of the low-wing monoplane which has become such a familiar American sight during recent years.

The fact that you can't see too much, especially if you do not hold a forward or rear seat, from the cabin of today's airliners is only one of the reasons favoring the change.

The high-wing plane, whose center of gravity is below the wing, is a more stable type of ship. The mid-wing ship is considered by aerodynamic experts the most efficient design—the streamline job is more efficient in cutting down resistance.

A new 14-passenger plane for feeder and second section service, under consideration by the Douglas Aircraft company, builders of the DC-4, largest land plane in the world, may be fitted with a high wing.

PITTSBURGH.—(By Science Service)—An accidental discovery in a research laboratory here has led to the discovery of a new crystalline state of boric oxide which promises to change certain commercial glass manufacturing methods.

Leon McCulloch, research engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, recently fused some boric acid in a tin can in an oven, trying to keep the mixture liquid so that it could be used to impregnate electrical coils and insulate them.

But the mixture turned white and milky and then pasty. Finally it turned stonelike and about as hard as Portland cement.

What happened, it now appears, is that the tin can and the hot oven changed the boric acid to a crystalline state just as flavored sugar syrup changes to fudge on boiling.

Drought Comes Again To Great Plains Area

WASHINGTON.—(By Science Service)—Damaging drought comes with the beginning of autumn to the great plains and parts of the adjacent prairie regions of the U. S. weather bureau states upon completion of its regular weekly survey of weather and crops. Corn has suffered all the way from the Dakotas to northern and west-central Texas; in south-western Missouri the late crop is reported as "hopelessly lost."

Elsewhere, however, late corn is in good to excellent condition, and with the warm weather is ripening rapidly. The warm weather was also very friendly to cotton, except at the extreme western boundary of its area. The bolls are opening and the harvest goes forward well.

PART OF ROUTINE for Police Officer 2700 when gas drill was held in Prague was the filling out of forms. Under Czech defense ability act, every citizen from six to 60 must enroll in defense courses. (A. F.-March of Time Photo.)

NEW USE FOR AIR FOUND

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—(By Science Service)—An airstream passing through two openings and thus harnessed to measure extremely small changes in air pressure, is being compressed or stretched for test purposes was described here before the fifth International Congress for Applied Mechanics.

Reported by H. de Leiris of Paris, the device sends air under constant pressure through a fixed opening and then through an opening whose size is controlled by the variation in the quantity to be measured. The pressure existing between the two orifices measures the size of the second opening, thus giving a means of determining the quantity to be measured. Great accuracy is claimed for the method.

MARY HAMPTON

Will Help You With Your Clothes Problem. Write Her!

State College at San Diego—Mable Grant is more than a very charming and popular junior this year. She is editor of their Del Sol magazine, to say nothing of being the great granddaughter of our country's U. S. Grant. And she knows her campus.

You can tell the freshmen by their clothes (in addition to vague expressions) such things as gaudy blouses or high heels. Although there was one blond-headed freshman who had the upper classmen frankly admiring. She had piled her very blond curls up with the daring of a movie queen and wore the most attractive crash dirdl frock with square neck and wide Mexican belt.

It's a marvelous college, like a white castle upon a medieval hill-top, and as charming with patio and vista as a swanky resort. The cafeteria seems to be the popular hang-out. There they play cards and gossip and sometimes sip a Coca-Cola. So I guess, too, while I gathered "local color."

For instance there was the most attractive girl in wine wool suit and a flower in her hair. She, she told me, "always wears a flower in her hair even in her bath." And there was another young woman, who is very popular, who wore a plaid wool suit and blue sweater laced up the front. On her feet were Cuban heeled sport pumps, and they say she always wears these.

I asked about socks and silk stockings, flats and heels, and Mable Grant told me it was about "fifty-fifty" there, although they do lean more toward flats as school gets under way. About clothes—three stand-bys were smartly in evidence, cotton shirtmakers, dirdls, sweaters and skirts. I saw three sweaters worn backwards and buttoned up the back like Vassar did last year. It has reached California now. Sleeves, of course, are always pushed up. And collegians have a universal weakness for angora.

Huntington Beach P.T.A. Benefit

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—A P.T.A. benefit entertainment will be sponsored by the Huntington Beach Parent-Teacher association Wednesday, Sept. 28, at 11 a. m. in the Huntington Beach Union High school auditorium, Leslie Brigham, a Hollywood Bowl and radio star, will give character songs and dramatizations.

As she and the policeman emerged onto the street, she saw a police cruiser waiting, with another officer at the wheel. The man who had arrested her hustled her into the car and climbed in beside her.

They pulled away from the curb. Julie, squeezed between the two men, leaned back and relaxed, a little smile on her lips.

One of the officers looked at her curiously.

"You look like you're enjoying this," he remarked.

"I am."

"What's it all about?" he asked.

"What was the idea of tying that woman up, stealing her costume and going out to play the piano in her?"

"Because she plays the piano atrociously."

"That may seem like a good reason to you, lady. But it's going to sound awful thin when you tell it to the judge. There's lots of folks don't play the piano very good. That don't give other people the right to knock them down!"

Julie laughed. "I didn't realize how silly that was going to sound. The judge, the judge! What would be ruining Mr. Caldwell's accomplishments intentionally—to make his singing sound bad. I asked her in a very nice way to do better tonight—and I guess I just lost my head when she refused."

"From the looks of her living room, I guess you did lose your head!"

"How did she get loose?" Julie asked. "I meant to go back later and free her."

"Luckily, she got free by herself. You evidently didn't tie her very tight."

Council Will Meet Thursday To Set Bond Election Date

NEWPORT BEACH.—The city council will meet in special session Thursday noon to set a date for a bond election of $325,000, the city's share in a $577,272 city-wide improvement project. No action was taken at a meeting last night.

The program was approved in a final public hearing last week.

WHEN Julie had been led, under arrest, out of the Poll Parrot, she had gone gallantly, her head up. What happened to her didn't matter, so long as she had helped Barry to win an opportunity on the radio. She had succeeded! She had left him talking to the radio scout. Now she was willing to pay whatever penalty the law demanded for what she had done to Madame Gullebra.

As she and the policeman emerged onto the street, she saw a police cruiser waiting, with another officer at the wheel. The man who had arrested her hustled her into the car and climbed in beside her.

"Luckily, she got free by herself. You evidently didn't tie her very tight."

DURING the rest of the trip to the police station, silence prevailed.

The ride didn't seem quite real to Julie. A Hamilton just couldn't be arrested and taken to jail! But here she was, between two burly policemen who were very real indeed!

At last, they drew up in front of a building with two lights burning over the entrance. Julie stared at it in fascination. The windows were all barred!

She shuddered and was suddenly afraid. Her mouth was dry. Her knees shaky as she climbed out onto the sidewalk.

A little knot of curious loiterers stared at her as the officers hurried her up the steps of the building. A snicker arose at sight of her bizarre gypsy costume.

The officers took her down a hallway and into a low-ceilinged room which was divided by a railing.

A gray-haired man in uniform was at a desk behind the railing.

"Here's the girl we picked up at the Poll Parrot," one of the policemen said. "Assault and battery on the piano player."

WEST ANAHEIM RANCHERS SUE FOR $34,000

Damage suits by two West Anaheim district ranchers totaling more than $34,000 were renewed today in superior court, following dismissal of previous suits.

The two complaints, which allege the county's flood control district was negligent in construction and maintenance of West Anaheim storm protection work which allegedly damaged the plaintiffs' ranch lands, were filed on behalf of Jerome and Mary D. Wallace and Arthur and Marie Harteit.

The Wallaces ask $22,680 damages for their 13.3-acre ranch and the Harteits are suing for $12,050 for their 10 acres of property. They also ask injunctions requiring the district to remove the allegedly offending works. Attorneys for the plaintiffs are Adrian Marks, S. B. Kaufman and Robbie Anderson.

Junior Guild Of Baptists Gathers

GARDEN GROVE.—Cora Marshall was hostess for the meeting of the Junior guild of the First Baptist church last week, entertaining members of the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Clark.

Margaret Ann Anderson led the devotions and conducted the business session and the guild council. Mrs. Anderson, Cole, reviewed two chapters of the study book, "The Star of India." Ora Beasley assisted the young hostess in serving refreshments at the meeting.

Others attending were Norma Pearson, Winana Christensen, Barbara Jean Elmore, Darcy Hayman, Frances Kester, Margaret Critton, and Norma Whitfield.

Splendid Program and Tea Augment Ebell's Meeting

Augury of a most propitious year was yesterday's distinguished program presentation at the initial fall session of the Ebell club of the Santa Ana Valley when not only was the noted South American violinist, Pery Machado, the guest artist of the day, but Armando de Barros, Brazilian consul at Los Angeles, likewise honored the several hundred members and guests with his presence.

The latter, upon invitation of Mrs. Roy Shafter, program chairman, very graciously consented to introduce Machado, and thoroughly charmed the audience with his brief words anent their mutual native land, Brazil.

Both novelty and familiarity were found in the program that the tall, slender, youthful violinist presented, and both, too, characterized the manner of his presentation. Absolutely lacking were any of the gyrations commonly associated with string musicians. Rather did he possess an extreme quietude, with only the fascinating suppleness of his wrist to intrigue the sight of his wrapt listeners.

Gentled into the most receptive of musical moods by Machado's initial three selections of the ever-loved classics, Handel's Largo, Beethoven's Minuet, and Bach's Aria on Four Strings, each of which stressed the absolute purity of tone, the depth and strength that at once distinguished the true artist from the pretender, the audience had its first taste of the fire that lay in store for them when he swung into the second movement of Francaur-Kreisler's Siciliana et Rigaudon.

Here, still displaying the utmost detachment and nonchalance, the artist manifested a delicacy and lightning-quick smoothness on his pegbox that was a true delight.

The novelty of Machado's presentation came with the second half of his program, when he presented a group of South American compositions seldom, if ever, heard, by any of his listeners. So unfamiliar were they that when, suddenly, he transposed several of his numbers and eliminated one on the printed program, the audience was left totally unknowing of just what was being played and was privileged thereby to settle back and give itself over to the sheer delight of listening.

Weird minors and peculiar syncope characterized the music, which was instantly accepted by listeners as a new and very moving experience. Listed on Machado's program were the more familiar Danza Espanola (Granados-Kreisler), and Villa Lobos-Machado's Alenda do Caboco (meaning "The Legend of the Peasant"); Villa Lobos' O Canto do Cysno Negro (meaning "Song of the Black Swan"); and Sara's La Muerte del Ruisenol (meaning "Death of the Nightingale").

The fine program followed a brief business meeting presided over by Mrs. W. S. Thomson, launching her second year as Ebell president.

FASHION SHOW

Stressed more than any other point in announcements made was that of the annual bridge-fashion show sponsored by the organization, which will be held Saturday, Oct. 15, at the clubhouse. Miss Mabel McFadden urged members to cooperate with members of the finance and day nursery committees in making the affair a financial success, for its proceeds go to the day nursery sustenance fund.

New members introduced and welcomed by Mrs. Thomson included Mrs. Robert Ross, Mrs. D. M. Terhune, Mrs. Harry Westover and Mrs. H. R. McBride.

Mrs. Earl Abbey, curator, urged all members to affiliate with one of the several sections open, and Mrs. L. L. Berman invited anyone to attend an initial session of the Drama section Monday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p. m., at the clubhouse.

Mrs. F. E. Coulter, past president of the club, made announcement of the year's concert series sponsored by the Musical Arts society, and beginning with presentation of "Ezio d'Este," world-noted basso, Oct. 17, and Mrs. P. W. Slabaugh graciously led the as-

DONALD BUTTON'S "Laurel Leaves"

MODERN FOR MODERNS
Inside the gingerbread crust that is our library building this week you'll find something either very exciting or something very disturbing!

If your viewpoint is all for modern architecture, streamlined trains, airplanes and their appurtenances, and if you are open-minded—abstractions by Elise will sweep you out on wings of thought far from the lazy haze of Indian summer into space!

If a square of canvas and a frame have to have something therein that is an exacting copy of a thing more or less familiar, and if your veneration is only for black walnut furniture, lace mitts and old glass—then those personal, non-recognizable objective enclosures of space which are the personal expression of the personality we know to be Elise will annoy you no end.

I believe I make no defense of any school or style of painting. I admit there are certain things which please me more than others, and I admit first that all of them subscribe to draughtsmanship thought conveyance, regardless of style.

A world with only one school of painting for all time would be a drear monotony.

It would be foolish to describe the pictures individually. See them for yourself, but go with an idea that you will take something away from them for yourself!

PRIZE PRIZE

I, for one, wish that the clock might be turned back to enable me to try for the prize Louis Danz is offering for the best 500-word essay from a Santa Ana high school or junior college student on this exhibition.

Those who are seriously intrigued by the prize offer will find Mr. Danz's talk this coming Sunday afternoon helpful in the preparation of their papers.

Twenty-five dollars is five cents a word! It is high remuneration for embryonic critics, let alone their more established elders!

"Write a paper" should be a slogan of the week for every high school and junior college student even mildly interested.

CONDUCTING

This commentator's enthusiasm for last Thursday night's Federal Symphony program has already been put to print. Space and form did not allow an effusion for Leon Eckles' conducting.

Something happened during the summer months, I feel sure, that has made of his conducting something transcending the ordinary. This, with the improved form manifested by the orchestra, promises a most worthwhile season.

Realizing the number of conflicting social engagements for any single evening, I yet feel quite a number of Santa Anans who did not should make each Federal Symphony concert their first concern for that particular evening.

WEEDS

It would be interesting, and probably quite amusing, to preface the first Conway lecture (Oct. 10) with a visit to the annual Amy May Weed show, Thursday through Saturday of this week, at 660 North El Molino, Pasadena.

First conceived as a very simple show, it now is one of the meccas for flower arrangement lovers and enthusiasts. It purposes to "bring the great joy of finding hidden beauty in common things."

Paintings of the desert country are currently on view at William Mankner's Padua Hills studio, Claremont.

NEW YORK EXHIBITION

Announcement of Milford Zornes' New York show at the Walker galleries, New York, Sept. 19 to Oct. 8, has just reached this desk.

I hope New York will be properly impressed with the work of the painter who will probably be the greatest of the present Southern California group in a final reckoning.

ATTENTION!
Robert Gilbert is again instructor for the Lathrop night school sketching class which will meet every Wednesday night, beginning tomorrow night.

While this is an excellent opportunity for beginners to get competent instructors extremely reasonably, it should also serve as a scheduled part of a program for those already proficient.

The important thing about drawing is keeping at it and trying to get ahead.

Shall I see you there tomorrow night?

The mode of the days of Louis XIV is recalled by the frothy white lace scarf that foams at the neckline of this tailored black and white coat, designed by Helen Cookman. Green orchids perch on the lapel.

Your Baby Book

By CARO COGAN

Disappointment ran riot throughout the ranks of the younger, and we mean the very younger, set around town when the circus failed to show last week, for the telephone kept jumping about busily all morning with children's voices asking the latest information as to time, location and so forth concerning the clowns, lions 'n' tigers. But cheer up, there will be another circus later this fall, which will probably be all the better for the waiting.

Proving himself to be somewhat of a seasoned traveler, little Paul Carl Brabec can boast to his friends that he has been to Canada this summer to visit his maternal grandmother, who lives in that country. Paul, however, is still in the cooling stage, being just past nine months. Age, it seems, puts no limits on his capabilities, however, for he manages a few tottering steps alone. He lives in Fullerton, with Daddy and Mother F. P. Brabec.

The husky little addition to the Crawford Nalle family who arrived only 12 days ago, is named Charles Alexander Nalle, after his grandfathers. And incidentally, he has a brand new second cousin in Susan Tuttle who arrived only yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital. Susan is the daughter of Adelaide and Kingsley Tuttle, and granddaughter of the Harry Spencers. She is somewhat lighter in weight than her cousin, tipping the scales at seven pounds, two ounces, whereas Charles went her three pounds better. Susan takes her name from her great-grandmother, Mrs. Susan Moynaux.

We remember little Charles Benjamin Tarver from a couple of years ago, when he was still in swaddling clothes, and had one of the biggest eyes we'd seen in a long time. Now we hear that he is quite a husky youth of two and a half years, is blondish, and quite tan, after a summer spent at the beach. It seems that he likes the water a great deal, and would like to try some aquatic stunts already, but wisely, mother decided that he still has a year or so to go before being trusted too near the water. Finding favor with the little boy are dogs, showing marked preference when any is around.

COUNCIL ASKED TO REPEAL HANDBILL LAW

A petition demanding the amendment or repeal of an ordinance prohibiting the free distribution of handbills or circulars in Santa Ana was presented to the city council last night.

There were 128 signatures. Heading the list of signers were the Smart and Final company and J. C. Metzgar, manager of the Orange County Board of Trade.

The council referred the petition to the council as a whole for further study.

The petition said the ordinance has been given fair and impartial trial and that it has been ineffective, and that it does not eliminate distribution of handbills and circulars, as they are now delivered through the United States mails.

The ordinance is discriminatory, the petition said, in that it enables large stores to use the mails for circulation of advertising matter, where the small business man cannot afford to pay the extra mailing cost.

"The liberty of the press should not be confined to newspapers or periodicals," the petition declared.

Unidentified Chemical From Citrus Fruit Declared to Check Infantile Paralysis

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

NEW YORK. — An unidentified chemical in citrus fruit is reported to the American college of surgeons as largely stopping the bad effects of infantile paralysis in monkeys.

The experiments are described by Claus W. Jungblut, M. D. The unknown chemical is something intimately associated with the vitamin C that comes from oranges, grapefruit and lemons. It may be part of the vitamin.

Dr. Jungblut discovered it by giving two kinds of vitamin C to monkeys suffering from infantile paralysis. One was the artificial vitamin C, known as ascorbic acid, manufactured by chemists. The other was the natural vitamin extracted from citrus fruit.

It had not been believed that there was any difference between these two forms of the vitamin. Both kinds kept down the paralysis in the sick monkeys.

But the artificial vitamin only cut down the paralysis by one-half, while the natural product did three times as well. It cut the paralysis to one-sixth of normal. This meant that it took nearly all the dreadfulness out of the disease.

Dr. Jungblut said the fruit vitamin may have contained something, either not fully removed from the vitamin during extraction,

ARMY WANTS 235 RECRUITS

A chance to carry a rifle in Utah or a tuba in Panama was offered Orange county young men today by the U. S. army.

Sgt. Michael J. Joyce said today that a requisition for 235 recruits for enlistment has been assigned to this district, with openings in infantry, coast artillery, field artillery and engineer corps in Utah and Washington.

A few openings are available for qualified bandmen, he added, in organizations stationed in the Ninth corps area, Hawaiian department and the Panama Canal department.

Prospective recruits — men between 18 and 35, single and without dependents — may get more information every Wednesday at room 207, postoffice building.

FILM PROGRAM HERE CHANGED

A change in program plans announced today results in the showing for the last time tonight of the current program at the West Coast theater, with "Hold That Co-ed" and "Mysterious Mr. Moto." Both films are $250,000 Movie Quiz contest pictures.

John Barrymore, George Murphy, Marjorie Weaver, Joan Davis and Jack Haley are featured in "Hold That Co-ed," in which the current trend in medicine show political tactics is kidded.

Peter Lorre again is starred as the suave Japanese sleuth in "Mysterious Mr. Moto." In this new thriller he goes to London to aid Scotland Yard in apprehending a ruthless band of international killers.

Tomorrow, under new program plans, the West Coast will open with "Too Hot to Handle," starring Clark Gable as a newsreel cameraman, and Myrna Loy as an aviatrix. The pair find adventure and romance in war-torn China and in the depths of a South American jungle. The second attraction will be "Meet the Girls," first in a new series of pictures featuring the Big Town Girls. The cast includes June Lang, Lynn Bari, Robert Allen and Ruth Donnelly.

SHOULD WOMEN KEEP ON WITH THEIR WORK AFTER MARRIAGE?

Some time ago this department printed the first query: "Should married women work?" Some mighty word battles followed and the consensus of opinion reflected the attitude that "A married woman's place is in her own home."

The problem today seems not to be, "Should a wife work after marriage?" but "How long after marriage should a wife continue to hold down a job outside her home?"

In the morning mail is a query from a young bride to this effect: "Dear Miss Stoddard: I was married almost nine months ago to a boy 21 that I kept company with for three years previous. I am 19. I had a job and decided I would keep it for a time until we got some things we wanted."

He has gotten a raise in salary recently, and I just wonder if I should quit? Do you think married girls should work? If so, how long after marriage should they continue to hold down jobs outside their homes? Do you think the young husband of today just naturally expects his wife to keep on working indefinitely if she had a job when she married him?

I know you've had discussions in your column for years about working wives, but I don't think any of them exactly answers my problem, if you could call it that. For this reason will you please give me your honest opinion. Thanks.

MOVIE GUILD SIGNS DEAL

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Players receiving $1000 a week or less will get a minimum 12-hour rest between movie work periods under a new contract signed by the association of motion picture producers and the screen actors' guild.

Free lance and contract players receiving $500 a week or less will work a 48 hour week, with time and one-half for overtime.

Joseph M. Schenck, association president, said today that the contract, which affects approximately 1200 senior and 10,000 junior members of the guild, promises harmonious settlement of all major labor problems during the next eight years.

The guild and producers will select a permanent committee of three to arbitrate all disputes. Schenck and Frank Morgan, guild president, said another committee will deal with the problem of extra players.

The shirts were recovered, but the man was lost in the crowd, police said.

Orange Youth, While Under Sentence on Three Counts, Accused of Fourth Felony

Accused of a fourth felony count to add to three others for which he is under sentence to San Quentin, Lawson Gist, 25, Orange, was arraigned yesterday afternoon before Justice Kenneth Morrison on perjury charges.

Gist, awaiting transportation to San Quentin following denial of his appeal of conviction on kidnapping, robbery and grand theft charges, had testified in the grand theft trial of Tommy Rice, 20-year-old fisherman.

Gist told Superior Judge James L. Allen he had been present in the county jail when Tom Coultrup and Alonzo Whyte, co-defendants with Rice who were arrested and given probation earlier, had plotted to place all the blame on Rice.

"Were you there when they first agreed on this?" asked Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Gardner during the superior court trial.

"Yes, I was," was Gist's answer.

Gardner signed the perjury complaint against Gist following conviction of Rice. Preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 4 by Judge Morrison. Rice, now awaiting an appeal by his attorney from the grand theft conviction, will be subpoenaed both as a witness for the people and for Gist.

There were no other bids, and the council voted to accept Bank of America's bid upon the approval of City Atty. L. W. Blodgett.

Delinquent tax payments from last year were less than anticipated, it was explained. Hereafter, the county advanced needed sums during the "dry" period, but no tax money is received, but is now prohibited from making such loans to political bodies, councilmen explained.

The borrowed $50,000 will be a lien upon the first tax money received.

PARK CONCERT
SET THURSDAY

Fillmore's march, "Trooper's Tribunal," opens the concert in Birch park Thursday at 2:30 p. m. when Dale Porter again conducts the concert band of the Federal Music Project in another of its park series.

Eilenberg's "King Mydas" overture in a band arrangement by M. L. Lake follows. The "Cricket's Serenade," a light concert number, and Brahms' Hungarian Dance No. 5 are the selections in the opening portion of the concert.

Excerpts from the late Victor Herbert's operetta, "Princess Pat," will introduce such popular melodies as the "Neapolitan Love Song," "In a Little World for Two," "For Better, For Worse," and "Love Is the Best of All."

An amusing piece of music writing is C. W. Dalbey's "Symphony No. 1," a burlesque on the larger forms of music which injects a comic note into the program. "Golden Blonde" (Moreau Elegance) and a German patrol march, "Guard Mount," both from the pen of Eilenberg, indicating this composer's versatility in the field of composition, will round out a well-balanced program.

'KICK-OFF' OF
BIG CAMPAIGN
SET FOR OCT. 5

Added impetus was given to the program of organization for the annual Community Chest campaign by 65 members of charity and welfare boards of directors who met last night at campaign headquarters to enlist their strength and interest in the fund raising appeal.

D. G. Tibball, who was general chairman of last year's successful fund raising campaign, presided at the meeting which was attended by members of the boards of directors of all of the agencies receiving funds from the Community Chest.

"We pledge to the general chairman and the campaign organization, our active and wholehearted efforts in this campaign," Mr. Tibball said. "After all, the Community Chest is simply the joint effort of our eight agencies to solve their financial problems in an efficient and economical manner. Interest in any one of the agencies carries with it a responsibility for helping make the Chest campaign successful."

The starting date of the campaign has been set for Wednesday, Oct. 5, when workers in all divisions of the organization will meet at a "Kick Off" dinner at 6:30 p. m. at campaign headquarters, 215 East Fourth street.

Work will start immediately following this meeting, and reports of progress will be taken at luncheon meetings to be held daily from Oct. 10 to 14. Campaign leaders and workers have expressed themselves as determined to complete the job and raise the full quota before the official closing date on Oct. 14.

Workers in the campaign will pay for their own dinners and luncheons at all organization meetings, it was explained by Chairman Robertson, and every person seeking subscriptions will be a volunteer worker serving entirely without pay.

The campaign goal of $33,830 is for the financial support of Santa Ana's eight charity and welfare organizations during the coming year, and in the opinion of the budget committee represents the very minimum amounts upon which these organizations can function effectively during the coming 12 months.

CITY HAS TO BORROW CASH

Inheritance taxes totaling $1029.75 had been fixed today by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel on the estate of Mrs. Emma Mueller of Orange, whose death precipitated a monetary family feud.

Mrs. Mueller died March 19, leaving her property principally to two sons and three daughters. Four of the heirs filed a will contest aimed at Royal Mueller, given the larger share of the estate; but their problem was ironed out after trial of the case had begun.

An heir belonging to Malcolm Kurtz of Buena Park, stolen from a parking lot here, was found in the rear of a store in Costa Mesa yesterday.

Under today's inheritance tax order the estate was set at $76,687.91. Of this Royal Mueller's share was estimated at $22,035.58. Other heirs and the amounts of their legacies were Mrs. Sophie Klatt, $11,295.58; Mrs. Dora Rohrs, $16,030.58; Mrs. Emma Bandick, $15,880.59; and Edwin Mueller, $11,245.58. A granddaughter, Evangeline Mueller, was bequeathed $200 in Mrs. Mueller's will.

AUTOS FOUND

Two automobiles were recovered by police yesterday shortly after being reported missing by their owners.

A car belonging to Ernest Norman of Orange was stolen from 1105 North Main street last night, but was recovered shortly by Santa Ana police at Third and Evergreen streets.

An auto belonging to Malcolm Kurtz of Buena Park, stolen from a parking lot here, was found in the rear of a store in Costa Mesa yesterday.

FIREMEN DENIED REQUEST FOR
4 WORKING DAYS OFF A MONTH

Request of the Santa Ana Firemen's association for four working days off a month, besides the regular 15 days vacation a year, was denied by the city council last night because of the present shape of the budget.

Action followed report by City Attorney L. L. Blodgett, who said the state law required firemen be given 15 days vacation a year, plus four shifts off a month—if the additional time off does not impair the efficiency of the department.

Six more men would be needed by the local fire department if the additional time off were to be allowed, Blodgett said. Hiring more men is impossible under the present budget set-up, he said. Blodgett also pointed out the law prohibits lowering of salaries to provide for the time off.

The council, after deciding that it would be impossible to grant the extra time off without impairing the department, denied the request.

CHISELING OF RELIEF FUNDS
LAID TO MAN

Accused of relief chiseling whereby his family received more than $275 in SRA funds, Mike Mercado, 27, hatchery employee of 1306 West Third street, today was in the county jail awaiting arraignment before Justice Kenneth Morrison.

Mercado was named in a complaint issued yesterday afternoon by Deputy Dist. Atty. Warren Schutz, charging one count of swearing to a false statement and two counts of petty theft of state funds. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff John Gilmore last night.

Schutz said Mercado signed an affidavit last April 21 that he was unemployed, that the family's total earnings were but $36 a month from part-time work by his brother, Ray, junior college student, and that he would report any changes in the family income.

At the time he swore he was unemployed, Schutz said, Mercado was employed by a local hatchery at $18 a week. The complaint was signed by George Copeland, special representative of the state controller's office. Justice Morrison set bail at $500.

STARTS LONG TERM

Joe E. Rodriguez, 23, laborer of 1805½ West First street, was booked in the county jail by Anaheim police yesterday to begin serving a 100-day sentence for drunk driving.

Higher water rates go into effect in Santa Ana Oct. 1.

Aimed at raising $50,000 for Santa Ana's share of the repair work on the joint outfall sewer line, the increased rates will be in effect until July 1 of next year.

The city council last night ended a month-long attempt to raise the water rate by voting final adoption to an emergency ordinance proposed last week by Councilman Plummer Bruns.

The ordinance raises water rates on a graduated scale by providing that the minimum on each meter be increased 25 cents plus a five cent increase charged on each 100 cubic feet of water used.

New minimum rates established by the ordinance are: for each ¼ or ½ inch service, $1.25 per month; for each one inch service, a minimum of $1.55; 1½ inch service, $2.80; two inch service, $4.05; three inch service, $5.95; four inch service, $9.05; and six inch service, $12.15 per month.

Besides the minimum base rate, the ordinance sets the following amounts for water used: the first 1000 cubic feet or less in any one month, 5 cents per 100 cubic feet; the next 3000 feet, 15 cents per 100 feet; next 21,000 feet, 13 cents per 100 feet; and all over 25,000 cubic feet, 12 cents per 100 feet.

The ordinance was passed upon motion of Councilman Bruns and the second of Councilman William Penn. Councilman Joe Smith, who fought each of the three propositions to raise the water rates, was not present and there was no opposition.

Mayor Fred Rowland pointed out this is not the first time that Santa Ana has been forced to raise the water rates because of emergency. Water rates were temporarily raised during the typhoid epidemic years ago, he said.

Opposition to the previous propositions was based chiefly on the provision for raising the minimum water rate from $1 to $2. Opponents had claimed that such an ordinance would have fallen hardest among the small water users.

Cleaner School Buildings, too
in Natural Gas Communities

An important point! For the welfare of youth is affected in some degree, at least, by its surroundings. Happily, everyone in this region gets the benefit of clean air and sootless buildings. And one big reason is the cleanliness of the popular fuel, natural gas. In factories and in homes, it gives the intense, economical heat required, without smoke. No other form of energy can do the job with the same cleanliness and economy.

For utmost satisfaction gas should be used in equipment that provides up-to-date, scientific improvements. See for yourself how desirable the new appliances are—drop in at a dealer's or the gas company. And ask about the easy terms.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

Hitting you right in the eyes first thing tonight is the question: are you registered? If not then don't delay longer. Today, tomorrow and Thursday are the last opportunities you have for qualifying as a voter in the November election. Above all things get registered.

The Townsends would like to see you affiliate yourself with the Townsend party but if you are not so inclined, then register in the party of your choice. The important thing is to get qualified as an elector so you can exercise your right of representation as an American citizen. We need your help as a voter to help elect Townsend endorsed candidates, but you cannot do so unless registered.

There's an interesting story connected with a box of Ramsey apples which were donated to the Townsend ladies, Saturday night by J. B. Ramsey, 1901 North Baker, Santa Ana. More than 60 years ago when Ramsey was a mere lad of 14 years he ate apples from a tree that grew on a town in Peach, Ohio, where the Ramsey family lived. Next February, 1939, Ramsey will celebrate his 80th birthday. More than 20 years ago he came to Santa Ana and took up residence on the property where he now resides. He found this Pacific coast country a very desirable place to live and the tang of orange blossoms and the scent of sea breezes combined with the many other allurements of Orange county, tied him fast to the community. But in spite of all California's attractions and the lushness of its fruits there lingered in the mind of Ramsey the taste of those green apples that he used to snitch from the tree that grew upon the town lot of the city of his boyhood. A desire grew in his soul to taste those apples again, not once but many times, and so it came about that he sent back to Ohio and had sent to him here in Santa Ana, a twig of that old apple tree. This twig he planted and nurtured with care beginning nearly 20 years ago. Now three large trees bear apples for him on his ranch. Last year he harvested more than 60 boxes of these Ramsey apples from these trees. This year he has another abundant crop. And all because a boy ate apples from an old apple tree back in Ohio more than 60 years ago; the Townsend club is proud of him on his ranch. # DONS EMPLOY ED BECKER IN NEW ROLE

From out of Santa Ana Jaycee's football camp came the following developments today:

(1) Ed Becker, heavyweight tackle, will be given a trial at running guard, now that some of the other Don tackles have begun to display their true form. — Gil Nohr, "Cy" Leivermann, Virgil Stevens, Mark Stewart and Tom Anderson.

(2) In preparation for their non-conference game with Los

ALUMNI TICKETS
Alumni of Santa Ana Junior college, by purchasing a 25-cent membership in the association, will be entitled to sit in a special section at the Municipal bowl for all home games. The section will be next to the student rosters.

Angeles City college (formerly junior college) here Friday night, the Dons may arrange a scrimmage with a navy squad for tomorrow afternoon.

(3) "Chuck" Stafford, right halfback, probably will miss the Los Angeles game on account of a leg injury, and Rollo Beck will be transferred to this post temporarily.

(4) Don Borden and Ralph Metcalf are showing rapid improvement at quarterback.

(5) Are Heinisch, giant fullback, has rejoined the squad, giving the Dons a 200-pounder who really knows how to back up the line.

SAINTS DRILL WITH TUSTIN

Scrimmage with Tustin Union High school's varsity was to occupy the Saints this afternoon on Clayton field as Coach Bill Foote put his charges through a series of hard workouts for the Long Beach Poly game at the Municipal bowl Friday afternoon.

Yesterday the Saint mentor went over in detail the Woodrow Wilson game with his boys, pointing out mistakes in action in a non-league game next week against Huntington Beach.

SAINT SOPHOMORES SLATE SCRIMMAGES
Two scrimmages have been scheduled for Santa Ana High school sophomore football team for this week, through to Coach Reece H. (Pinky) Greene. This afternoon the "Little Saints" tangle with Orange, while Garden Grove meets them here Thursday.

Since the season does not start until Oct. 20, Coach Greene probably will arrange for scrimmages and practice tilts in the meantime. Thus far the sophs only have four games scheduled, and all of these are league encounters.

Motorcycle Star Fails In Record Attempt In Utah

BONNEVILLE, SALT FLATS, Utah. (AP)—Fred Lowe, motorcycle officer of Pasadena, Cal., who has broken two world's stock motorcycle records, planned today to redesign a streamlined machine on which he failed yesterday in an attempt on the land speed mark for two-wheeled vehicles.

Lowe drove his machine at 115.125 miles per hour through a measured mile to break the mark of 111.5 miles per hour for the 45 cubic inch motor displacement class, held by Rollie Free of Indianapolis. He also broke Free's record of 100.65 m. p. h. for 74 cubic inch motors with a mark of 127.747 m. p. h.

He said his streamlined machine, in which he hit 137.4 m. p. h., developed a bad wobble when he passed 135 m. p. h. Hence of Germany holds the record at 177 m. p. h.

U. C. L. A. SCOUT PRAISES

TEX' OLIVER'S ELEVEN

That U. C. L. A.-Oregon game in Eugene Saturday shapes up as a real attraction. When our own G. A. (Tex) Oliver, making his debut as Oregon's head coach, introduced a club that trounced Washington State 10-2 at Pullman, Wash., he surprised Cliff Simpson, U. C. L. A. assistant coach scouting the game for Bill Spaulding.

Simpson returned to Los Angeles with the deepest of respect for Oregon.

"Oliver has done wonders with just about the same bunch of boys we licked, 26-13, last year," Simpson told Spaulding. "The defense is 50 per cent stronger and the offense has been polished up quite a bit. They use a spread formation and a modified Notre Dame offense that had Washington State baffled and they mixed up their plays something fierce. The line is solid from end to end."

From all indications, Scout Simpson was very much impressed by Oregon's victory over Washington State, and the U. C. L. A. scout's observations last Saturday probably have added a few grey hairs to Coach Spaulding's head.

ED BECKER SHOULD GO WELL IN NEW POST
An interesting experiment, one that should add power to their attack, will be conducted by Coaches

Bill Cook and John Ward in Santa Ana Jaycee's line this week.

Ed Becker, the 210-pound tackle from San Diego high, will be shifted to the important running guard post to alternate with Cook's smaller combination of Dale Mickelwaite and Dick Horton. . . . The San Diego giant will be groomed for both positions.

One of the most versatile men in the Don backfield is Rollo Beck, the Laguna who knows all FOUR positions. . . . Beck's present task will be to substitute for the injured "Chuck" Stafford at right halfback in Santa Ana's game with Los Angeles City college on Friday night.

PLAY IN PRESIDENT'S CUP BECOMING HEATED

Competition in both the men's and women's divisions of the President's Cup tournament at the Santa Ana Country club has reached the semi-finals, and interest is beginning to steam in the annual golf event.

Riley Huber, who trimmed Elmer Gates, will meet Doug May, who eliminated Ralph Culp, in one division. In the other, R. G. Cartwright, who defeated H. B. Olson, will match strokes with "Chuck" Denio, who trimmed C. O. Knox.

Mrs. C. H. Chapman is paired with Mrs. Paul Hall, in the women's division. They eliminated Mrs. Rudy Schaffer and Mrs. Harry Bakke, respectively. In the other semi-final match, Mrs. L. H. Robinson, who trimmed Mrs. D. R. Kerley, 1 up on the 19th hole, will face Mrs. E. E. Baker, who eliminated Mrs. C. V. Doty. Champions will be crowned in both divisions next week.

Armstrong Leaves For Training Site

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Minus five teeth, which he lost to a dentist, but four pounds overweight, Champion Henry Armstrong was en route today to Hot Springs, Ark., to train for his title fight with Cefierino Garcia in New York Nov. 2.

Armstrong and Manager Eddie Mead departed by train last night. The negro boxer said he would work off four pounds so he would scale 136 when he defends his welterweight crown against Garcia.

Manager Of Glen Lee Questioned

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The state athletic commission tomorrow will question Manager Joey Greenberg concerning the squabble in choosing a referee for the bout between his fighter, Glen Lee, and Dale Sparr of Oakland at the Hollywood Legion stadium last Friday night. Greenberg refused to permit Lee to square off against Sparr until Frank Van was replaced by Mushy Callahan as arbiter. Fans caused a near riot.

Today a Year Ago—Gabby Hartnett, Cub catcher, equaled major league mark by catching 100th game for 12 seasons.

Three Years Ago—Chicago Cubs won National League pennant as Bill Lee outpitched Dizzy Dean and won first game of double bill with Cardinals, 6-2.

Lewis-Gainer Bout Fixed For Oct. 21

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—The title bout here between the lightweight champion, John Henry Lewis, and Al Gainer, New Haven negro, supposedly all set to be held Oct. 14 was postponed for another week today at the insistence of Lewis.

The champion said he would need until Oct. 21 to pare himself down from 184 pounds to the 175-pound limit.

Gainer said he had no objections to the Oct. 21 switch.

Washington's End Gains Promotion

SEATTLE. (AP)—Jay McDowell, sophomore end, who recovered two fumbles against Minnesota in his first college varsity game last Saturday, loomed as a starting wingman against Idaho here Saturday. The Huskies resumed workouts two hours after arriving from Minneapolis yesterday.

MIDGETS RACE TONIGHT
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Jitterbugs and thunderbugs will mingle swing and speed tonight when Atlantic stadium presents the weekly 40-lap feature for midget auto racers.

Paul Swedberg, young pilot from the San Francisco bay region, will be out to repeat his main event victory of last Tuesday, when he turned back the challenges of Louis Durant and Karl Young.

O'SHANNON IS VICTOR OVER COLLINS HERE

By KENNETH ADAMS
That fighting Irish-Mexican from Los Angeles, Red O'Shannon, won again at the Orange County Athletic club last night. But it wasn't his fighting that won a decision for him over dusky Willie Collins, Whittier, former Golden Gloves champion.

Collins beat himself with his dirty tactics in the ring. He hit O'Shannon more often with his elbows and shoulders than he did with his fists. The negro swarmed all over the game O'Shannon, seldom giving him a chance to use his deadly left hook to the body. O'Shannon got the decision.

Jack Leonard, L. A. negro, was too tough for Jack Leonard, Whittier, Roberts was smacked to the canvas twice in the third round, and dropped the decision to Leonard. Roberts was a fast, willing fighter, but lacked the punch to hurt the negro.

The blond terror from Long Beach, little Wayne Penn, added another round to the string he has taken at the local scaphouse. He kayoed Fay Suvia, L. A. Mexican, in the early part of the second frame.

Charlie Stone, Fullerton jaycee lad, lost a questionable decision to Walt Fuller, Los Angeles negro. The boys really slugged each other in the second round, but most of the rest of the fight was spent in wrestling and lunging.

Best bout of the evening was staged by cagey Frankie Gardea, E. A., and Jim Mahoney, Long Beach Irishman. It was a good match, with both boys laying on leather hard and often. Mahoney was hurt in the final round, and lost the decision to Gardea.

Lupe Placentia, game Santa Ana boy, was outclassed by Jack Williams, L. A. negro. Lupe's face was a gory mess when the bell ended the fourth round.

Most promising of the local fight crop seems to be little Bobby Blake, from Santa Ana jaycee. A clever lad who covers up like a veteran, Blake gave good account of himself in trouncing a tough and rugged Mexican from L. A. one Cruz Flores. Blake has a left hook which he uses to good advantage.

Tony Bonomo, a hairy-chested scrapper from Los Angeles, won a decision over Cobe Sales, Honolulu, despite the fact that Bonomo looked old enough to have a son as big as his opponent.

SEALS, SACS OPEN FIRE

By the Associated Press

San Francisco's Seals got into the Pacific Coast baseball league playoffs by virtue of two percent points on the last scheduled day of play. Sacramento, after leading the league for weeks, wound up in third place.

On tonight's game two teams open a seven-game series in the play-off finals with $5000 prize money and a $500 trophy awaiting the winner. Second place will pay $2500.

First three games of the series will be played in Sacramento tonight, Wednesday and Thursday. The series will then move to San Francisco and resume with a twin bill on Sunday.

The Seals eliminated the second place Seattle Suds and the Sacramento team pushed the pennant winning Los Angeles Angels out of the picture in the first round of the playoffs last week. Seattle and Los Angeles got $1250 each. Tony Freitas, who has beaten the Seals four out of five times this year, will take the mound for Senators tonight. Bill Shores will oppose him.

Stanford Hopes to Shatter Santa Clara Grid 'Jinx'

PALO ALTO. (AP)—Although admittedly weak at the guard spots, the Stanford Cardinals are being given at least an even chance to break the Santa Clara jinx when the two teams clash here Saturday in their season opener.

Coach Tiny Thornhill announced today the week would be spent trying to bolster the line. The Broncos have beaten Stanford in their last two meetings.

FIVE CHANGES MADE IN TROJANS LINEUP
LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Five changes in Troy's first string were evidence today that head man Howard Jones is hunting a better grid combination for Southern California than the one that lost to Alabama last Saturday.

Harry Smith, boosted as all-American guard material on the basis of his showing last season, was dropped by the third team, supplanted by Floyd Phillips. With Granny Lansell's injured leg all most certain to keep him out of the Oregon State game, Mickey Anderson is the No. 1 quarterback.

ALLISON PROMOTES TWO ON CALIFORNIA VARSITY
Berkeley. (AP)—When the Golden Bears of California took northward to Pullman, Wash., for their football game with the Washington State Cougars Saturday, they'll be taking a couple of new first stringers with them.

Morley Mathewson of Long Beach, end, and David Queen of Belflower, Calif. center, so impressed Coach Stub Allison with their work in the Bears' last quarter attack on the Gaels of St. Mary's last Saturday, that he announced today he had made them varsity regulars. The Bears secured two touchdowns in the last minutes of play to beat the Gaels, 12 to 7.

FOREIGN COURT STARS UPSET

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Japanese and Belgian hopes in the Pacific Southwest tennis championships were shattered today by upsets in the first round of the men's singles.

Belgium's champion, Robert Mouvet, lost to Jess Maman, even the state heavyweight champion of Belflower, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, while Fumitono Nakano, Japanese Davis cup representative, was being trimmed by unseeded Ronald Lubin of Beverly Hills, 6-3, 7-5.

Charles Hare of England had a struggle to down 17-year-old Ted Schroeder of Glendale in three sets, 6-3, 7-5, 6-3.

Don Budge, world net king, is due to arrive today from the East for the tourney.

Marathon Golfer Becoming Weary In 600-Hole Play

CHICAGO. (AP)—J. Smith Ferree, Chicago marathon golfer, climbed wearily out of bed this morning and headed for Milwaukee and another round of golf.

He arrived in his special plane last night after finishing the first half of his transcontinental golf tour at St. Louis. After 72 holes in Milwaukee the young LaSalle street broker will be back today for a similar stunt at Olympia fields.

Ferree's goal is 600 holes of golf in four days and in eight cities. He finished his round at St. Louis with the aid of flood lighted trucks, posting an 87 for the last 18 holes to boost his total to 332 strokes.

Tomorrow he will play in Philadelphia and New York—if he maintains his schedule.

CUBS-PIRATE SERIES HARD TO FIGURE

CHICAGO. (AP)—The Chicago Cubs paid plenty for Dizzy Dean and expected plenty of victories in return, but Manager Gabby Hartnett was willing to settle for one today—the series opener against Pittsburgh's National league leaders.

Dean and his famous sore arm proved a gamble for the Cubs from the start. Today he was Hartnett's finesse to a championship.

If he wins, the Cubs would be a half game behind the race-setters, and Hartnett would have only three games to play against the Bucs tomorrow and Thursday.

If he loses, the Cubs still would retain an outside chance. It was merely another gamble for Hartnett, who has called enough turns to bring the Cubs 17 of their last 20 games—seven of them in a row.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

When you go back into the records, it becomes harder than ever to figure out what may happen in this Pirates-Cubs "pennant" series, which is bound to make all other baseball take a back seat until it's over.

In the first place, neither has been able to gain a decisive edge in 19 previous encounters this season. The Pirates have a 10-9 lead so far, and appear in a bit better shape, especially where pitching is concerned, for a tough series.

On the other hand, the records don't prove it will help Pie Traynor much to be able to shoot Jim Tobin, Bob Klinger and Russ Bauers at the Cubs in order. They're his aces, but 10 starts ago, Chicago's ace, Dizzy Dean, won only three games among them and lost five. Only "Fireman" Mace Brown has been consistently successful, being credited with three victories in five relief appearances against the Cubs.

Gabby Hartnett, after tossing his No. 1 moundsman, Bill Lee, against the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday to gain a 6-3 victory that put the Cubs in a game and a half behind, decided to take a chance with Dizzy Dean for today's opener. Old Diz has faced the Bucs twice, winning one game with a seven-hit job and being knocked out to lose the other. Clay Bryant, with two wins and one loss, and Lee, with four straight triumphs against Pittsburgh, are due to follow. But they'll be going in there with only two days of rest apiece.

Lee apparently didn't have to work any too hard to beat the Cards. He kept a dozen hits well scattered, and never was behind. It was his 21st victory. Stan Hack and Frank Demaree backed him up with three hits each, and Demaree drove Hack in three times.

The winning and losing streaks of the rivals don't prove much, either. Since Aug. 9, when the Bucs held a 6½-game lead, Pittsburgh has won only half its 46 games, and Chicago has won 30 out of 47. They've both been going great guns more recently, however, the Pirates taking eight of their last 10, and Chicago grabbing 17 out of 20.

In the only other game yesterday, the New York Yankees began turning up for the World Series by conquering the second-place Boston Red Sox, 4-3, on Steve Sundra's good pitching and a three-run rally in the sixth inning. It was only their second victory in 10 games.

NAVY'S BIG GUNS . . . The almost unbelievable power in the 16-inch guns of our first-line battleships, recently computed at the Naval Proving Ground at Dahlgren, Va., is difficult for the individual to realize unless transposed into familiar terms. Guns are properly heat machines, capable of doing work measurable in terms of horsepower, similar to an automobile engine. But in the case of guns, a far greater amount of energy is concentrated in a small space. During the period—three or four thousandths of a second—that a rifle bullet travels the length of the barrel, energy in excess of 1000 horsepower is developed. And, strange as it seems, when one of the 16-inch guns is fired, a horsepower of 10,000,000 is developed—greater than the combined output of the power plants propelling the battle fleets of the United States navy!

Is Hitler Backing Down?

With history-making drama reaching a climax, Spanish, Japanese and Chinese wars had better take a vacation. Just the threat of conflict between the democracies and the dictators of Europe is sufficient to confine real wars in China and Spain to 10-point newspaper heads.

Hitler has lost none of his arm-waving bluster, and can yell as loudly as usual judging from radio and newspaper reports yesterday. However it would seem to an observer that Hitler might be "saving face" by his thundering speeches, yet backing down slightly as he observes the combined might of Britain France and Russia.

In yesterday's talk, note that Hitler points out that he wants nothing from France, and that Germany and France can be peaceful neighbors.

He has no quarrel with Britain, except for the comparatively minor matter of a naval treaty. Hitler never seemed to take a treaty seriously anyway, so that's not a serious matter.

He has no quarrel with the Czechs; in fact, he doesn't want to rule over one single Czech. President Benes is a liar, in Hitler's opinion, but that's hardly grounds for a war. Hitler insists he "speaks only for the Germans."

Germany doesn't hate any nation, the Fuehrer asserts, desires peace, but he must have Sudetenland, but that's been promised him. The hitch in the deal merely involves details.

It looks as if Hitler is going to avoid war (and the disastrous consequences of tackling Britain, France and Russia) and then claim that peace was due to his own patience, diplomacy and sacrifices.

The super-showman sees the opportunity to sidestep disaster and make himself a world hero.

Anyhow, we'll have to admit that Woodrow Wilson's principles of self-determination of peoples sounded grand at the time.

What's One Gasp?

When Miss Carole Lombard, a most pleasing actress, turned orator for a moment and said that she felt lucky to be able to keep $20,000 of her $460,000 year's salary for herself after Uncle Sam's tax collectors and her agents had taken their share, great gasps of astonishment swept from what used to be the land of the Montezumas to the rock-bound coasts of Maine.

Some time after the first wave of astonishment receded the United States treasury let its tax experts say: "Miss Lombard's statement that she was glad to pay her income tax is, of course, commendable, but Uncle Sam's income tax laws are not nearly so drastic as the interview claims. On the basis of figures given out by her publicity agent, her total tax, both state and federal would be $280,379, leaving Miss Lombard for her own use nearly $200,000 instead of $20,000, as reported."

Well, that's only the difference of one cipher, and what's a cipher between friends? Two hundred sixty thousand three hundred seventy-nine dollars is still a gosh-awful gouge out of $460,000, and agents' commissions and other living expenses are high in Hollywood.

Miss Lombard, as we said, is a pleasing actress. We're not worried about that gasp of amazement we contributed to a false impression.

Britain's debt is 40 billions. No wonder she doesn't want war.

What Flavor, Please?

One of the great unsolved problems of all time, now under new consideration by the postal and agriculture departments of the nation, is what's the best and most attractive stickum for postage stamps.

For, after 150 years of national life, and stamps enough to stretch from here to the moon and back any number of times, it is still admitted that American postage stamps must have stickum, and that the American letter-sender shall lick 'em.

The agriculture department has done a lot of experimenting on the problem lately, and has come forward with a positive declaration that the sweet potato produces an especially high-grade stickum, and that it tastes better than the cassava dextrin now in use.

Before the matter is unchangeably settled we'd like to cast a vote for our favorite flavor, which is banana split. And if we can't have that, we'll take vanilla.

More and more do we admire the Atlantic Ocean as a good thing favorably located.

Hitler, God and Il Duce

Having listened to the recent international broad casts—Hitler's and Mussolini's—we hand the palm to Hitler as the one possessed of the largest lungs and the lustiest larynx. He can sound madder. And that seems the main idea: to out-shout, out-smart and out-snarl the rest of the world.

As a rabble-rouser Mussolini in the present crisis is a poor second. But in all fairness, two things must be said in his behalf. First, his newly discovered role as a rumble-seat fellow-traveler with the dictator of the north naturally has shrunk his chest and reduced his brow. He no doubt is beginning to realize that there can't be two number ones.

Fair Enough

By

There is something pathetic about the proposal of Rep. Martin Dies to form a great league to preserve the fundamental principles of Americanism and to oppose fascism and communism in the United States. Dies, chairman of the house committee on un-American activities seems to underestimate the influence of his own inquiry.

Contrary to his apparent belief, his investigation to date has had good effect and if continued, with due attention to the activities of Italian fascists and German nazis groups, will command the respectful attention of the nation. On the other hand, there is a danger that an emotional nationalistic organization would develop into a strong arm machine itself, and certainly it is unwise to create such a force under the influence of a committee of congress.

Abuse Tolerance
Whatever distress it may cause completely loyal citizens of Italian or German origin or stock, the fact remains that both Italian fascists and German nazis have to abuse the tolerance of this country. Black shirts join brown shirts in demonstrations of contempt for the American form of government and for those of similar blood who cherish American liberties. Not only that, but by the terrible power of brutal reprisals of the kind of such Americans still residing in the old countries they wield a coercive force even over American citizens in the United States.

The enmity of Mussolini and Hitler for this country and its people has been expressed repeatedly. Mussolini's papers constantly call us a nation of gangsters, and as Mr. Cianfarra, of the New York Times, recently wrote from Rome, a decent word has not been written of this country in the Italian press in more than two years. This is the policy of the Italian government.

Sad State of Affairs
Hitler expressed his intentions when one of his staff newspapers threatened that the Reich would take an interest in American affairs which would be pleasurable to him. This intervention in American affairs is to be seen in the activities of the Nazi Bund, our equivalent of the Henlein conspiracy in Czechoslovakia.

Dies has paid too little attention to the fascists and the nazis. And, although he has done good work on the communists, as their angry protests show, even that job is incomplete. It is a sad state of affairs, but even in this free country this committee of congress will find it hard to protect from vengeance American citizens. Living testimony against Italian and German agents. The fascist and Nazi foreign press maintains close relations with the consulates of these surly capitals, and the obvious power of the press to intimidate advertisers and others of the foreign colonies should not be ignored.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of Tustin Hills City Association will be held at the association packing house near Tustin, Monday, Oct. 13, to elect new directors of the ensuing year.

Last evening about 300 people from Santa Ana went to Anaheim to show their interest in the great cause of temperance that is now holding that town before the public.

The Christian Endeavor society of the First Presbyterian church held their semi-annual business meeting and supper at the church last evening. Before the members had all arrived the others spent the time in singing and playing.

Miss Ruth Deardorff and Miss Irene Balcom of Fullerton have been hired to act as the great recital. It will be given on Oct. 1 in the Temple theater.

Old Sundial

ANN HARBOR, Mich.—(By Science Service).—One of the world's oldest sundials, unearthed in China and dating from the Han dynasty, about the third century B. C., impressed astronomers here with its accuracy and precision of construction when Dr. Peter M. Millman of David Dunlap Observatory, Richmond Hill, Ont., analyzed it in a report to the American Astronomical society.

Divided into 69 equal segments each 1-1000 of a complete circle, there is a circle inscribed with an accuracy of one part in 2500. The Chinese were known to divide the day into 100 parts in that period. Other lines on the stone were used to determine the solstices. The dial was evidently placed in the plane of the equator and Dr. Millman considers it probably that it was a standard type made for use over a fairly wide range of latitudes.

The dial was brought from China by the Rt. Rev. W. C. White, and it is now in the University of Toronto's Royal Ontario Museum of Archaeology. It is the only one of its kind known in any collection at the present time.

GREAT SERPENT MOUND

Americans are discovering one of the wonders of ancient America—the Great Serpent Mound in southern Ohio.

The mound is not new to archaeologists, nor to a good many other people, especially mid-westerners. But visiting it has been made "convenient and pleasant" by aid of an $80,000 WPA and Ohio State project, and discovery on a large scale has begun. Some 100,000 roving Americans this summer have taken in the eastern curiosity, which one archaeologist informally calls "a good old antique." From now on, the Great Serpent is expected to become a standard sight.

The first white man who discovered the mound did not find it particularly convenient or pleasant. Who he was, nobody seems to know any longer. But word got around his neighborhood that over in the woods by the river was a queer winding bank of earth, probably something wild Indians built for defense.

Then came the archaeological team of Squier and Davis, studying Indian remains. One good look told them what the earthwork represented. It was a snake symbol, cleverly modeled in raised earth to wind along the high cliff by the river. Dimensions of the creature call for Hollywoodian adjectives. It is four or five feet high, and its coils are 1254 feet long. The open jaws are 61 and 56 feet respectively in length, and in their 75-foot gap lies an oval mound of earth like a big egg about to be swallowed. The egg was probably an altar, for on it the Indians left burnt stones.

Mound-building Indians of the midwest built a good many effigies resembling men, birds and beasts. But the Great Serpent is a prehistoric masterpiece.

Ever since 1886, when Harvard University's president was dismayed to find a cornfield waving among the Serpent's coils, the earthen monument has been protected, restored. The Ohio State Archaeological and Historical Society has owned the land since 1900. (Copyright, 1938, by Science Service)

FAKED AGE
Many a false claim to crime has been hinged on "the papers" having been faked and given a look of authentic age.

Many a questionable first edition book has turned out to be a forgery, on paper of recent make. And yet, paper experts have received far less attention than ink experts. Somehow, it was hard to be sure and definite about the age of a scrap of paper.

But that situation is changing. New ways of analyzing paper have been found. Obscure facts in paper history have been ferreted out. And these two developments are what the expert needed.

A British paper expert, Dr. Julius Grant, believes that this line of research will become increasingly valuable. It is possible now, he reports to the British Journal Nature, to analyze raw material in a piece of paper and to tell whether the wood—if it is pulp paper—was prepared by a chemical or mechanical process. And if the investigator knows his paper history, he can say that the materials and process indicate that the paper was made after a given date.

Dr. Grant tells some paper facts that prove useful. For example, until about 1800 all paper was made of rags, mainly linen or cotton. In the eighteen fifties a rag shortage was so acute that straw was used in paper. Esparto grass was first processed in 1861; wood some twenty years later.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note: The Brass Ring, The Washington Merry-Go-Round's weekly award to outstanding people in the news, herewith is bestowed upon Eduard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia.)

WASHINGTON.—Fifteen years ago one of the Merry-Go-Round authors climbed a steep path leading to a castle once occupied by the kings of Bohemia, and after traversing numerous passageways which threaded the castle like the corridors of a cave, came into the office of the foreign minister of Czechoslovakia.

Eduard Benes, the foreign minister, was a very plain looking, modest little man with an engaging smile, a forthright manner and a perfect command of the English language.

Speaking in that language, he waxed eloquent over the progress of Czechoslovakia, her relative prosperity, her true democracy, the friendly relations she enjoyed with her neighbors. He particularly mentioned Russia and the fact that Czechoslovakia had learned to get along with Russia at a final peace treaty in Europe.

Foreign Minister Benes, at that time, had a right to be proud of his Czechoslovakia. In a Europe sickened by economic chaos, Czechoslovakia stood out as a sane and prosperous state.

In this maelstrom only Czechoslovakia stood forth independent, healthy, and a going concern.

This week, still proud of his country, still proud of Czech enterprise and efficiency, Eduard Benes, as president of Czechoslovakia, carried on his shoulders the responsibility for deciding whether his country should surrender all that he had striven for, or fight.

With the exception of Adolf Hitler, no other man in the world held such great power for general peace or war.

Benes' Background
The man who held this power is the son of a poor peasant family, the youngest of 10 children. Born 54 years ago, he worked his way through school and first attained national fame as a soccer player at the University of Prague.

It was at the university that he met the man who was to be his greatest inspiration, and whom he was to follow throughout life, at last succeeded as the president of Czechoslovakia.

Professor Masaryk at the University of Prague, later came back as a colleague of Masaryk to teach as a professor of sociology. It was from Masaryk that Benes first imbibed his ideas on Czech independence and the necessity to work for restoration of ancient Bohemia.

Their activities attracted suspicion, and they were forced to flee to Switzerland, where they continued even more effectively to work for restoration of ancient Bohemia. Both were under sentence of death if they fell into Austrian or German hands. But they continued their operations in London, Paris, and Petrograd, Benes acting as secretary for his teacher, Professor Masaryk, and becoming an expert in manufacturing the fake passports on which they traveled.

It was in Washington, however, that the Czechoslovakia republic

finally was born. Masaryk came here with Benes in 1917, received encouragement from Woodrow Wilson, and then after a series of conferences with Czech and Slovak immigrants in Pittsburgh, Chicago and other cities, finally issued a proclamation of independence on behalf of the new republic.

This was the beginning of the country acknowledged to be the most worthwhile experiment in democracy spawned by the World War—the country which Hitler now seeks to swallow.

Champion Of Peace
As foreign minister of Czechoslovakia, Benes came to play a powerful and enlightened part in the councils of Europe. He was one of the leaders of the League of Nations, was hailed as the consistent champion of the little nation against the bigger.

Benes is a serious-minded little man. He does not smoke or drink. He is more studious than social-minded. He is an absolute realist, never has under-estimated the key position which his country has occupied in Europe's future. Not long ago he told a newspaper interviewer:

"The destiny of Europe will be decided here. This country is a natural and necessary point for European equilibrium. If this position is given up, all of central Europe is gone."

WHY THE EXCITEMENT?
For days now I have kept my usually leaky mouth shut—but I see no further reason to be quiet excepting that I am not of Irish descent.

I have read, and have pondered—until I feel I cannot smoke or drink. He is more studious than social-minded. He is an absolute realist, never has under-estimated the key position which his country has occupied in Europe's future. Not long ago he told a newspaper interviewer:

"The destiny of Europe will be decided here. This country is a natural and necessary point for European equilibrium. If this position is given up, all of central Europe is gone."

It is a dishonor to the pioneers who have flown across the Atlantic to give Corrigan anything more than a day or two's passing attention—and obprobrium.

What did he do? He demonstrated nothing. He set a bad example for the youth of the land. He can do nothing more to justify this juvenile stunt.

He had one of the best planes in America. It is evident that all this talk about a $900 race is organized publicity, or newspaper opportunism.

He was an experienced flyer—as are thousands of other Americans. Is there any question that thousands of American flyers could have made the same flight easily with the same plane—if they had the same lawless instinct to show off against humane regulations?

Corrigan is a bad example to the youth of America whose lesson from his feat is that you don't have to wait and build up a career honestly—you can sneak in when the cops are not looking and steal overnight publicity.

Either Corrigan has a Hibernian society back of him or a motion picture publicity office. What has he done? Nothing good. What will this stunt indicate that he will do in future? Nothing. In what does he have inspired the youth of the land? In a very bad way—to plan deliberately to disobey the laws of safety and good reason of his country and do a sensational, foolhardy thing for his own selfish benefit.

He should be forgotten instantly.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is the most important thing in the active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all letters in excess of that length.

"BLACKMAILERS REPEAT"

To the Editor: I am deathly afraid that England and France will find out that you can't buy off a blackmailer. He may profess to be satisfied but when he is tempted again he will repeat—and why not? It may be that sacrificing the Czechs will not have bought security for the large democracies.

The idea of self-determination of peoples has no realistic application in this case—it is just a selling point for the Nazis—and guess how self-determinable the Sudetenland actually be. The land they occupy has never been within a German state included in the present third reich. The creation of Czechoslovakia did not involve new boundaries of the west. The republic's nucleus was the provinces of Bohemia and Moravia exactly as they had been members of the Austrian empire for centuries. It is literally true that these Germans on the south slope of the Sudeten mountains have been under the same government as the Czechs for longer than it is necessary to look back.

It may be true that the Czech ruling class neglected to bring them into full citizenship, and thus left them open to false racial hysteria. I regret it, but it is too late now. Most Americans will see little more than a redistricting, but with the Nazi army on their side of the mountain the Czechs no longer have a frontier. Also the state loses the industries which are so important in that area. They may lose coal mines of Silesia to Poland. And if it is all ineffective?

Pencil And Paper Help Plane Flights In Stratosphere

WASHINGTON.—(By Science Service).—With pencil and paper John Sweer, expert of the U. S. naval research laboratory here, has just finished computations which will aid future stratosphere fliers traveling above 50,000-foot altitudes.

Sweer's calculations involve the bending experienced by a ray of light as it passes through the earth's atmosphere. This refraction, as it is called, must be determined and corrected for in all aerial navigation where "sights" are taken on the horizon and on a star to determine the latter's angular altitude.

Using more general formulae than previously employed, Sweer gives methods for computing the corrections for any altitude. Actually 100,000 feet is about the limit at which aerial navigators will need to worry about the bending, he explains in an interview.

Above 100,000 feet the atmosphere is so rarefied that further increases in altitude does not increase the amount of bending of the light rays.

New Ships To Provide High Competitive Value

WASHINGTON.—(By Science Service).—A maximum of 12 new cargo vessels whose principal feature is the high competitive value built into them, will be built by private shipyards to the order of the U. S. maritime commission, it was disclosed here.

Known as the C-3 design, the new freighters, whose deadweight tonnage will be 11,926 tons and whose gross register tonnage will be more than 17,000 tons, must be built to steam at 16½ knots, an unusually high speed for freighters. Purpose of such high speeds is to enable two of these vessels to do the work of approximately three older vessels by being able to make more trips during a given period of time. This is a direct measure of the vessels' competitive value.

Dutch Airline Enters Trans-Atlantic Race

LONDON.—(Special).—An additional entrant into the race for trans-Atlantic air service supremacy will be the Dutch K.L.M. airline, advices reaching here indicate.

With permission already granted the Dutch to use Lisbon and the Cape Verde islands as stopping points, survey flights along the route to a Netherlands-Dutch West Indies service connecting with Dutch lines already operating in Latin America are expected by next summer.

Use of American planes, which have won popular popularity on the K.L.M. lines is probable.

Would you like to know the "twelve rules of salesmanship?" as laid down by a man classed as one of the greatest sales counselors in the United States? He is Richard C. Borden, director of sales promotion of the Borden company of New York, and author of "How to Deliver a Sales Presentation."

I have known Richard Borden for years. He is a salesman himself; also he is a psychologist, as every salesman has to be if he is to be successful at selling. He wanted to get at the very bottom of scientific selling, so he studied not only himself but thousands of other salesmen. He went everywhere and studied exactly how other salesmen presented their cases. He watched salesmen for nine years, and compared one salesman with another—why one could make sales and another couldn't. He observed their mannerisms and even their posture.

At last he worked out these 12 rules which have put him on top of his profession. He is 38 years old, and has made enough money to retire if he desired. Instead, he likes work and means to continue.

Here are his rules exactly as he gave them to me:

Rule 1. Do a "rounded" selling job. Don't be content to handle some parts of your work unusually well. Unless you handle all parts with reasonable skill, you will be a flat wheel.

Rule 2. Plan in advance every sales talk you make. When you are before the customer, don't deal sentences rapidly off the top of your mind. When you plan your presentation, do what you do when you pack a suitcase—put a lot into a little space.

Rule 3. Know twice as much about your product as you need for convincing your toughest prospect. Don't be a sales nudist.

Rule 4. To win belief in yourself, Don't be a burglar. Prove your points before his eyes.

Use the priming of understatement, then when you have arrived at the right point—explode the dynamite of over-proof!

Prove your product by tests. Whenever possible, make your prospect the tester. Prove your points before his eyes.

Don't be afraid that your competitor is making extravagant claims. A good salesman likes a competitor who is a liar.

Rule 5. People believe what they see, so make your sales presentation "see-worthy." Show your selling points—and show them with showmanship.

Rule 6. Put the "plain" in "ex-plain." In other words, sing something short.

The simpler it is the better. Wherever possible, make the bolt sell the battleship!

You should not only make your explanation simple, but you should make it seem simple. Use everyday language and easy illustrations. Avoid technical terms. Be brief.

I see I'm not going to have space in the words allotted to me in this column to give you the other six rules. So I'll pass 'em along tomorrow.

I'LL TELL YOU....

BY BOB BURNS

There are two kinds of pride. The real pride that welcomes comparison and invites inspection and then there's false pride that is put on to try to cover up something. If a restaurant owner forbids you to look in his kitchen, you'd better not eat there.

One time a finicky, city man was eatin' at my aunt's boarding house and he took his napkin and started to wipe off the silverware. When my aunt got insulted and started to bawl the man out, he apologized to her and says, "I know it looks bad to the other people." My aunt says, "Yes, and that ain't all—you're gettin' my napkin dirty!"
